Proposal To Send Large Army Of Political And Racial Refugees Here

State Department Officials Are Puzzled At Move Made By Germany

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—In a surprise reversal of its previous policy, the German government has advised the state department that it is willing to release upwards of 450,000 political and racial refugees, providing they proceed direct to the United States, high officials disclosed today.

The German government proposes to send the refugees across Europe in sealed trains to Lisbon, for shipment aboard United States line vessels into American ports. The plan is still under study by the state department, with various American organizations pleading for its approval.

The refugees are now in Germany and its conquered territories, principally in concentration camps. They

PA NEWSC OBSERVES

Parents of boys residing in the neighborhood of Sheridan avenue and Albert street, should inquire a little more closely into how the boys use their sleds during the evening. Last night, in the neighborhood of thirty boys, most of them under twelve years of age, were engaged in the dangerous pastime of hooking onto the back of autos which were stopped at this dangerous intersection. With streets in an extremely slippery condition, it would take only the least slip to hurl them under the wheels of a car. Many complaints have been received by city police of the dangerous practice, but parents would have a little more influence perhaps. Last year, a boy was killed in Lawrence county in just this manner.

Local parties who love outdoor sports are home from Kane, Pa., where they spent the week-end, and attended the "Ice Carnival" which attracted a throng of spectators. They relate that the famous "Ski Patrol" from Jamestown made up of a group of about 25 skilled men, gave marvelous performances and stunts on skis. The carnival was most spectacular in every phase, and worth witnessing.

One of Pa. News' ardent readers called up today to remind us that the birds have a hard time to get food when the snow is so deep. Just a little reminder to throw out those bread-crumbs when you finish your meal.

Be careful about walking too close to buildings during the next few days. A heavy fall of snow covers roofs and is apt to let loose and slide off.

Some folks on the east side, who desire to feed the wild birds during this inclement weather, are somewhat thwarted by hungry dogs.

Radio Broadcast Says Italian Situation In Ethiopia Becomes Critical

WITH THE BRITISH IMPERIAL ARMY IN LIBYA, Jan. 28.—Pursuing retreating Fascist legions, English and Australian troops swept westward across the Libyan desert today, while other mechanized detachments tightened their siege of the port and stronghold of Derna.

As the offensive of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell's middle east command gained velocity, the Italians showed little or no inclination to halt their retreat and make a major stand.

A British radio broadcast picked up by NBC in New York said the "position of Italy in Abyssinia has become so critical that Italian troops have been withdrawn from Addis Ababa and dispatched to the frontiers in a vain endeavor to withstand what anybody but a fanatic would realize is a hopeless situation."

Must Break Sea Power Of Britain Germans Are Told

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Great Britain's power must and will be broken on the seas, grand admiral Erich Raeder, commander-in-chief of the German fleet, told shipyard workers at Kiel today according to a German radio broadcast picked up in London.

(Editor's Note: British hearers said that Raeder's speech was not once broken by applause.)
"The final struggle against England will not be easy," Raeder said. "We must defeat British power on the seas. We shall deal out our blows with all the strength at our command. We shall constantly engage the enemy."

"We do not underestimate Britain. We know the English are a tough fighting people. But they are approaching their end faster and faster."

Willkie Continues Whirlwind Tour Of Bomb Blasted London

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 28.—After reading a huge batch of mail, including scores of fan letters, over a rationed breakfast, Wendell L. Willkie plunged today into round two of his whirlwind visit to London.

Showing no sign of fatigue after his rapid-fire program yesterday,

Willkie motored from his hotel to St. Paul's Cathedral, where he was received by the dean and inspected bomb damage. His route from the hotel took him through some of the city's most severely bombed streets.

"It's outrageous!"
Willkie's indignation burst into expression as he examined great blocks of fallen masonry in front of the Cathedral's high altar.

"It's outrageous!" he exclaimed. The dean handed him burned-out remains of incendiary bombs that

ATHENS, Jan. 28.—Hurling fresh reinforcements into battle, the Italian high command has unleashed a major but so far unsuccessful offensive on the northern Albanian battle front, according to reports received in Athens today.

Military authorities in the Greek capital claimed Italian losses during the past 48 hours have been heavier than at any time since the beginning of the Italo-Greek conflict.

War positions captured by the Greeks, they said, are strewn with Italian dead.

On the Albanian front, extending 60 miles southward from Lake Ochrida, last-minute advances said, the Italians under Gen. Ugo Cavallero are making a supreme bid to turn defeat into a Fascist victory.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—For the first time since he foot-slogged it in the trenches of the last World war, Wendell L. Willkie underwent a baptism of fire in embattled London today when German air raiders returned to the capital after eight bomb-free days.

Three air raid alarms sounded in rapid succession soon after the distinguished visitor had inspected St. Paul's cathedral and the "city" areas wrecked in the historic "fire blitz."

Anti-aircraft batteries all over the city opened up as one or more planes on bombing and reconnaissance flights roared across London.

One lone raider dropped a basket of incendiary bombs during the afternoon. Traffic in one area of the city was halted while air raid wardens, police and civilians extinguished the bombs with sand.
Willkie himself was not believed to be in the areas attacked but he could not escape the roar of anti-aircraft fire or the patter of sharpshooting as it fell from exploding shells.
Asked what he thought of his first London air raid and the manner in which the city reacted, Willkie simply said:
"Fine!"

VICHY, France, Jan. 28.—Two members of the Vichy cabinet, minister of justice Raphael Albert and minister of industrial production and labor Rene Belin, were dismissed by Premier Marshal Henri Philippe Petain today.

It was believed that Prof. Bartelemy, well known constitutional expert and rightist author, may succeed Albert as justice minister.

Meanwhile, white-gloved gendarmes this morning took up the task of guarding the personal residence of Marshal Petain, replacing mobile guards. Gendarmes, soldiers and mobile guards all were placed under orders of the minister of interior.

Freight Derailment Blocks Crossing On Washington Street

The West Washington street Erie railroad crossing was blocked to automobile traffic for several hours early today when four cars of a P. & L. E. freight and the pony trucks of its locomotive derailed on the ice-clogged crossing. The derailment came at 2:50 a. m. and wreck crews were still at work at 10 this morning.

Officials believe heavy ice packed on the rails at the crossing threw off the engine's pony trucks and caused the four cars directly behind to follow.

Morgenthau Would Scrap British War Debt To United States

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau today advised congress that he is ready to scrap the British World War debt to the United States and revealed that expenditures of billions under the lease lend bill will eventually require an increase in this country's national debt limit beyond the currently proposed ceiling of $65,000,000,000.

Morgenthau told the senate foreign relations committee that British ability to purchase planes, munitions and arms in the United States will be exhausted this year.

"I suppose you are ready to charge that off any time," observed Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., referring to the British World War debt which amounts to $5,728,821,248.49.

"Any time," replied Morgenthau. "While the 'all out' British air program admittedly involves potential expenditure of billions Morgenthau declined to furnish an estimate of the cost of the bill to the committee."

"I have a rough idea but the figures are not worked out, the picture changes so often," he said.

Vandenberg then pointed out that the administration had asked congress to settle the conflict by negotiation, was announced in Bangkok today.

Cold Wave Sweeps Eastward In Wake Of Winter's Heaviest Snowfall

(International News Service)

Motor clubs issued fresh "drive carefully" warnings to Pennsylvania motorists today as a cold wave swept eastward in the wake of the winter season's heaviest snowfall.

Although main highways were well-cindered and in some cases clear, the frigid blasts from the midwest were expected to force the mercury down and freeze the slush and water still covering a majority of the roadways.

In the Pittsburgh area, the weatherman warned the thermometer may drop as much as 20 degrees overnight.

The snowfall in the western area of the state ranged from three to nine inches in depth. The central area was buried under an average five to 12 inches, and in the east depth ran from five to six inches, with nine inches reported in some districts of Philadelphia.

Close to a score of deaths in Pennsylvania were blamed on the heavy snowfall, with 11 in Philadelphia alone.
Air traffic was still grounded, and highway traffic was moving slowly.

Britain Reports Canadian Liner Is Safe In Port

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The British Press Association reported today that the Canadian Liner Empress of Australia, which was said to have been attacked by a submarine off the west coast of Africa, is "safe in port."

The press association and all other British news agencies circulated this statement.

On inquiry in London it is learned the Empress of Australia is safely in port.

The authoritative press association circulated its report even as London evening newspapers splashed Miami dispatches hinting that the 21,883-ton vessel might have been sunk.

At no time, however, did British authorities confirm reports that the ship had been lost.

Probably Transport

The ship, which normally carried a crew of between 400 and 500 men, probably was acting as a transport and supply ship for the British army in north Africa, making the journey via the Red Sea.

Whether it carried troops or was outward or homeward bound when the reported attack occurred was not known.

The sea lane off Dakar now are probably the worst crowded shipping routes owing to the vast extent of the traffic passing via the

Count Ciano Is Off To War

By J. C. OESTREICHER
I.N.S. Foreign Editor

Count Ciano is off to the war without explanation as to how the second most powerful man in Italy could be spared from Rome.

And a wondering world can choose between these hypotheses:

Either Premier Mussolini found it advisable to spur Italian morale by sending his own son-in-law and foreign minister into battle—or some major reorientation of the foreign policies which have guided Italy for the past half-decade may be looked for.

The latter alternative is sheer guesswork of course. But it is nothing less than astonishing that Mussolini should have chosen the gravest crisis of the Fascist regime as the time to put Ciano into a flying helmet and send him to Albania or North Africa in command of a bombing squadron. It is just as if King George VI put a cocked hat on Winston Churchill and made him commander of a battleship in the Mediterranean.

State Clubwomen To Aid Defense

Thousands To Join Program

Await Only Appointment Of State Defense Council
By Gov. James

MANY ACTIVITIES TO BE ARRANGED

By WATSON FENIMORE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—Tens of thousands of Pennsylvania clubwomen today are awaiting only the appointment of a state defense council by Gov. Arthur H. James before offering their services in the cause of national defense.

Once Pennsylvania follows the example of some 41 sister states in setting up the council, the way will be cleared for appointment of subordinate local defense groups, Philadelphia club leaders pointed out.

Ready To Aid
Then, these leaders added, women throughout the state will be ready to aid in public health, industrial, secretarial, recreational, informational and other programs on a volunteer basis. State and local councils are needed to enable volunteer workers to contact those sources through which their efforts would become effective and to eliminate duplication in volunteer activities, it was explained.

More than 50,000 women in Philadelphia are ready to join in the program, asserted Mrs. C. Fred Rau, president of the Philadelphia Federation of Women's Clubs and their number is multiplied in the commonwealth to the hundreds of thousands, according to Mrs. William B. Vrooman, president of the Philadelphia county federation.

Already active in Philadelphia and eager to go once a state council is named is the coordinating committee of the emergency aid volunteers. The committee was organized last May to consolidate defense work of women's clubs and other groups and has functioned in the following six fields: clerical work, consumers' field, food conservation, foreign language, automotive and radio.

BRITISH FORCES SWEEP WESTWARD ON LIBYA DESERT

Rodolfo Graziani had been dismissed as commander of the Italian forces in Libya.

The British drive is pushing forward relentlessly with the express object of preventing the Italians from reorganizing their lines and offering a serious battle.

This dispatch is being written at a point about 75 miles west of fallen Tobruk which was occupied by Anglo-Australian forces last week.

Advanced British mechanized forces met slight resistance at some points and Italian artillery at Derna intermittently shelled the road leading back to Tobruk.

Little Resistance
But the battle kept moving toward the west and nowhere could the Italians put up more than "token" resistance.

British planes continued their constant patrols at all hours but Italian planes were seen rarely.

Authorities at this base said they believed the Italian aircraft either were grounded by orders or were in no condition for flight—possibly as a result of R. A. F. bombing attacks on Italian airbases.

Thus there can be no doubt that the R. A. F. commands the air lanes over Italian Libya.

Australian engineers are busy repairing destroyed Italian bridges. Behind them, mile upon mile of British transport keeps moving up in a steady stream to keep the advanced forces supplied.

The British are getting ready for another blow at the Fascists. Everyone believes that Derna is next on the British list.

hit the Cathedral. Willkie stuffed the fragments into his pockets and continued his round of visits despite a half-hour air raid alarm.

Bent on gathering all possible facts about the war effort and conditions in Britain for a report to the American people, Willkie also was scheduled to confer with Montagu Norman, head of the Bank of England and visit the house of commons.

When he arrived in the heart of the financial district—the fire-blasted "City of London"—Willkie left his automobile and picked his way foot between trucks and heaps of rubble.

He watched soldiers clearing away debris and building a bridge across a huge bomb crater.

Crowd Cheers

A small crowd outside the Bank of England cheered as Willkie entered to see Norman.

Willkie spent forty-five minutes with Norman and was cheered again when he left the building.

It was understood the two men discussed international and financial implications of the war.

After luncheon with Major Clement Attlee, Lord Privy Seal, and Arthur Greenwood, the American visitor is to visit Cardinal Hinsley at Westminster palace and interview Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood and then dine with Aircraft Production Minister Lord Beaverbrook.

His talk with Lord Beaverbrook is expected to be an important one since Willkie is especially interested in obtaining information regarding Britain's aerial power and potentialities.

Hopkins Visits Willkie
Last night Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's representative in London, called on Willkie for a 15-minute visit.

Willkie was extremely reticent regarding their conversation, merely stating: "It was purely a social call. I never had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Hopkins before."

Later Willkie cancelled plans to tour London air raid shelters after receiving an invitation to accompany Home Security Minister Herbert Morrison on a tour of the shelters Wednesday night. The former Republican presidential candidate spent a quiet evening with friends in his hotel suite.

To Visit Eire

London newspapers, meanwhile, were especially interested in Willkie's plans to visit Eire and confer with Prime Minister Eamon De Valera at Dublin before returning to the United States.

Willkie is expected to urge De Valera to come to some arrangement giving British ships the use of Eire ports and naval bases.

The London News Chronicle commented: "Willkie may find an opportunity to tell De Valera how America regards Eire's persistent refusal to give Britain the slightest help in fighting a common foe of civilization. . . . It would be a good thing if Eire could absorb a little of Willkie's breezy realism. . . ."

"If Willkie reminds De Valera of the fate of Belgium, Holland and Norway, he will be doing a service to Eire as well as to us."

Thornton, pastor of Epworth Methodist church, in charge. Herbert Matland, George Sillman, Jack McGonigle, Kenneth Allen, William Nickol and Loy Badger were palbearers.

Interment was in Graceland cemetery.

Largely attended funeral services for Mrs. Charles Owens, 501 North Cedar street, were conducted Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Mahoning funeral home, Mahoningtown. Rev. John Earl Myers, Jr., pastor of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, officiated.

Palbearers were William Buchanan, Thomas Hartman, W. A. Garner, Charles Comstock, Luther Venable and John Fisher. Interment was in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. Fields Funeral Time.

Funeral services for Mrs. John M. Fields, 404 Sixth street, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Mahoning funeral home. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

In addition to survivors listed in the obituary, Mrs. Fields also leaves a nephew, Neyman F. McNally.

Critchlow Services.

Private funeral services for the late Richard Critchlow, of New Castle, R. D. 1, were conducted from the Ritchie funeral home, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with Rev. E. D. Thompson of the Savannah church in charge.

Palbearers were: Howard Walker, Ronald Gibson, Russell Brown and Richard Donnelly.

Interment followed in Savannah cemetery.

GERMANY WOULD RELEASE 450,000 REFUGEES TO U. S.

include Germans, Austrians, Czechs, Poles, Dutch, Belgian and French. Most of them are Jewish.

The German government's decision to release "undesirables"—as Berlin calls the refugees—came as a great surprise to the state department.

U. S. Did Not Initiate Plan

A high state department official explained that the United States government did not initiate the proposed plan. From other sources, it was learned that private American organizations had a hand in sounding out the German government on the question of releasing refugees. Officials, however, admitted that the German offer had been transmitted to the state department through regular diplomatic channels.

The Germans agreed to release the refugees 500 at a time. The Germans would release only those refugees, who obtained American visas, guaranteeing their admission to the United States. This would enable the American government to control the identity of the refugees, to some degree.

The Germans propose to transfer the refugees from concentration camps to the Port of Lisbon in sealed trains—trains with doors sealed and all windows blackened—for delivery to United States line ships at their docks. The Germans made this condition—that the state department agree to take every one of these refugees into the United States—to prevent them from roaming over Europe.

The Germans agreed to send three of these trains weekly into Lisbon, with 500 refugees aboard each train.

Demand U. S. Pay Fares

The Germans, however, demanded that the United States agree to pay in gold for the passage of all the refugees from Germany to Lisbon, as well as from Lisbon to the United States. The cost of transporting each refugee was set at approximately $445, of which $245 would go to the German railroads for the fare from Germany into Lisbon and only $200 to the United States line for the trip to America.

Three problems are delaying American acceptance of the German proposal. One is the fear of Germany smuggling spies and fifth columnists into the United States, disguised as refugees. A second is the problem of finding quotas for the refugees, since the German limit is 13,000 for a six months period and the Germans propose to release hundreds of thousands. Some can not be admitted under visitors' and scholastic visas.

The third is the fact that the American export lines is presently operating the New York to Lisbon service and refuses to yield its run to the United States line. Purchase of the American export vessels, now on the Lisbon run, however would solve this problem.

One official said the United States line was willing to take on the refugees movement and would use the liners, Manhattan and Washington in this service.

U. S. Puzzled

State department officials frankly are puzzled by the German move. One of their theories is that the Germans are tiring of guarding the refugees and prefer the $245 in gold for each one—a total that could amount to millions of dollars—counting on the number released—to strengthen their currency.

The state department meanwhile is under great pressure from religious, racial and other organizations to approve the plan to get "persecuted refugees" out of German hands. Some of these organizations have agreed to shoulder all costs and to assume responsibility for the refugees after they reach the United States.

Thus far, however, the state department has reached no final decision.

Cape to and from south Africa, Suez, India, Australia and the Far East.

In recent weeks there has been increasing U-boat activity, chief Italian, in the water off Dakar.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 28.—Silence today shrouded the fate of a vessel which, reporting itself to be the Canadian Liner Empress of Australia, in use as a troopship, radioed last night that it had been torpedoed and shelled off the west African coast.

Messages from the 21,833-ton liner, once the proud queen of the Canadian Pacific lines, aboard which the king and queen of Great Britain sailed to America two years ago, were intercepted by tropical radio at Miami.

MORGENTHAU WOULD SCRAP DEBT TO UNITED STATES

gress to increase the national debt limit from $49,000,000,000 to $55,000,000,000.

Would the passage of this bill involve expenditure requiring expansion of the debt limit beyond $55,000,000,000? Vandenberg asked. "Yes," replied Morgenthau. He then explained that such an increase would not necessarily be imminent. The $55,000,000,000 expansion, he said, would meet government deficits until June 30, 1942.

Pointing out that an exact estimate of appropriations and expenditures can not be made, Morgenthau said that it might be that the proposed $55,000,000,000 debt limit would take care of some production under the lease lend bill. In any event, he said, so far as the treasury can foresee, a $16,000,000,000 increase in the debt limit will provide the government with funds until June 30, 1942.

SMITH IS HEAD OF SUPERVISORS

WPA spoke on the WPA aid to townships and H. A. Thompson, state secretary of the supervisors, conducted a forum upon questions concerning the supervisors. A reel of motion pictures was also shown.

Due to the inclement weather the attendance of the supervisors and auditors was cut to about one-half. Many of the men stayed in their own townships in order to get roads cleared.

The convention was the 26th annual affair and was presided over by President Frederick Taylor, who retired from the office this year.

Martha Riley Hostess

Miss Martha Riley was hostess at a lovely party which was held in her home on Huron avenue on a recent evening.

Games and dancing were in vogue after which the group enjoyed a dainty repast at a prettily appointed table. Assisting the hostess in serving was Ethel Jay and Jean Montemary.

BEWARE NOW OF EPIDEMIC COLDS!

Here's Some Good Time-Tested Advice

With folks all around suffering with contagious colds, be just as careful as you can—and you may avoid a lot of sickness, trouble and worry.

Follow these simple rules of health: Live normally. Avoid excesses. Eat simple food. Drink plenty of water. Keep elimination regular. Beware of wet feet and drafts. Take some exercise daily—preferably outdoors. Get plenty of rest and sleep.

Then use these two time-tested treatments when needed.

AT THE FIRST SIGN OF A SNIFGLE, SNEEZE OR NASAL IRRITATION... put a few drops of Vicks VapoRub on each nostril right away. This helps to prevent many colds from developing, because VapoRub is expressly designed to help Nature's own defenses against colds. (If a head cold causes stuffiness, you'll find that a few drops of VapoRub helps clear the clogging mucus and makes breathing freer and easier.)

ANNUAL DINNER OF MINISTERS' WIVES

Members of the Ministers' Wives club, with ministers of this city as guests, were served their annual dinner by the Naomi Circle of Highland church on Monday evening at 6 o'clock when they gathered in the Highland U. P. church dining room. There were 50 in attendance.

During dinner, served at tables attractively appointed and decorated in red and white, Mrs. A. M. Stump, president of the club, thanked the committees, composed of Mrs. D. L. Ferguson, Mrs. Carl Andersen and Miss Alice White, dinner and arrangements; Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine, Mrs. G. Bennett and Mrs. Thomas B. Shetter, program.

Mrs. Stump presented Mrs. Bennett as toastmistress, and she, in turn, requested Rev. W. A. Thornton to give the toast to the ladies. Mrs. W. J. Holmes gave the toast to the husbands. At the close of the meal, Rev. J. Calvin Rose extended the appreciation of the group to the women who served, after they had been enthusiastically called to the dining room with the old refrain, "We want to see the cooks."

Mrs. McIlvaine had charge of the program presented after the dinner in the lecture room when she presented Charles Cotton, Jr., who sang two selections, accompanied by Mrs. J. L. Reed. Mrs. Reed also accompanied Miss Julia Johns, who sang two numbers. A piano solo was presented by Jean Ferguson.

Also a feature of the program was the motion pictures of Mexico, Florida and Yellowstone Park, shown by Dr. A. W. Shewman. Mrs. D. L. Ferguson extended the appreciation of the group to Dr. Shewman for the interesting pictures.

Special guests were Rev. W. George Thornton of Waterford, and Rev. and Mrs. J. H. McCormick.

Next regular meeting of the Ministers' Wives club will be February 24, in the home of Mrs. Robert Meade Patterson, Park avenue, with Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine as co-hostess.

HAILE SELASSIE IN COMEBACK!

HAILE SELASSIE may carry an umbrella, or have one carried for him by admiring courtiers, but he's no appeaser. When he skipped out from his tottering kingdom it wasn't to save his own skin. For he's back "somewhere in Ethiopia," resolved to oust the invaders and regain the land the vastly superior Italian forces seized five years ago.

This time he mayn't be fighting for such a hopeless cause. Spears, arrows and old-fashioned muskets were puny weapons against the Italians' modern mechanized equipment, but the bravery of the native troops was beyond question. Now they will be backed by British soldiers, tanks and airplanes already occupying strategic positions.

Nor is this all. The Ethiopian warriors will be led by British officers, who have lately become familiar with the Italians' fighting and sprinting tactics. The double blow to the prestige of Mussolini's troops, administered in Africa and Albania, should have encouraged the men of Ethiopia.

Whatever the outcome, Haile Selassie has earned his place in the gallery of gallant figures produced by this most dramatic of wars. It may well be that in his case the whirligig of time will bring round its special revenge.

IT'S A TWO-WAY ROUTE

There is every reason to take satisfaction in the fact that American-built bombers are now flying regularly on delivery from Newfoundland to Britain in time that breaks the world's record for transatlantic crossing.

Every reason for satisfaction but one—What flies East can fly West.

The fact that American bombers now fly from North America to Europe between breakfast and tea-time means that European bombers can also fly to North America between breakfast and tea-time.

Which means that there must be more than tea waiting for them if any should decide to try it.

EIGHT PER SECOND

Scientists are trying to learn what effect sun spots have on conditions of human life on earth. Sun spots come and go. The sun has spells of being spotty. That wouldn't seem to be important except that there may be a connection between it and things that happen in periods.

There are periods of good seasons and bad ones; periods of floods and periods of drought; periods of prosperity and periods of depression; periods of peace and periods of war. Once people would have laughed at the idea of spots on the sun having to do with such things in the world, but advancement of science is linking up causes and effects that were never suspected until lately.

Recently the theory has been advanced by scientists that the earth is surrounded by rings of ionized gas, and the varying influence of sun spots on these effects a corresponding variation in cosmic rays coming to the earth. The marvels and mysteries of transmission of words, music and mechanical energy by radio prepare human credulity to accept as plausible almost any sort of theory.

Says one writer, discussing the sun-spot-cosmic-ray proposition: "Eight cosmic ray shots crash through every person's brain every second, on the average. . . . It may be important to know where and when on the earth cosmic rays will be most abundant."

More important would it be to know what this bombardment of human brains by cosmic rays is doing to human thinking and conduct. When that is figured out, perhaps a hint will be disclosed why periodically humanity gets nutty enough to risk destroying itself and all its works in another world war.

FRINGES OF THE FLEET

A tabulation of naval vessels contracted for during the calendar year 1940, printed in the "Congressional Record," shows the growing importance to the Navy of vessels not classified as combatant. This tabulation lists 334 combatant vessels, seventy-five auxiliary vessels, seventy-three patrol vessels, 644 district vessels and 1,404 small vessels. The combatant vessels will cost $5,997,000,000 to build; all other categories will cost approximately $570,000,000. The public is familiar with the need for battleships, cruisers, aircraft carriers, destroyers and submarines. Less well known is the need for other vessels listed in this tabulation, such as destroyers, seaplane and submarine tenders, submarine and aircraft rescue vessels, tank and artillery lighters, minesweepers and minelayers, motor torpedo boats and fuel-oil and water barges.

In addition to the vessels listed as contracted for in 1940 the Navy Department lists 139 vessels acquired by purchase in 1940 at a cost of $75,000,000. These included transports and tankers, patrol and yard craft, minesweepers and minelayers, though these vessels were not all thus described before their purchase. A bill now before Congress contemplates a large increase in the force of small vessels available to the Navy; it authorizes appropriations for 400 vessels, 280 of which would be ordered at once by the Navy. The 280 would include minesweepers, submarine chasers, motor torpedo boats and escort vessels; they would cost approximately $310,000,000 to construct and equip, but additional amounts must be appropriated to expand shipbuilding facilities before the vessels in question can be built.

The evacuation of British, French and Belgian troops from Dunkirk, when anything that would float was of service and was under fire, suggests that the Navy classification of combatant vessels is a little rigid. Certainly the motor torpedo boats, classified as patrol craft, are built to fight. It seems odd to exclude them, even in a tabulation, from the company of the battleships, the cruisers and the destroyers.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHEN PARENTS COMMAND CHILD TO OBEY

Make few commands; repeat none. If you would get the best results in bringing up a child, but this is a standard no parent will entirely live up to. Nevertheless it is a very desirable goal. As this goal approaches, nagging recedes, obedience waxes and parent-child vexation wanes.

The fewer commands you make, as a rule, the less prone you are to repeat them. The less you repeat them, the fewer will be made. The more commands you make the more opportunities and likelihood for disobedience. The more often a command is repeated the less ready is the child to obey.

Why do parents repeat the same command in the same situation so often? "Don't play in the fire" (to the tot of three). The child goes on. "Don't play in the fire, I said" (a little louder). The child continues playing in the fire. "If you don't come away from that fire I'll spank you." Still the child is sure the danger point has not been reached. He goes on. "Go away from that fire!" the parent yells making a dash toward the culprit. The youngster goes crying violently.

An hour or a day later the same child may be playing before the same fire and lingering at it until another volley of commands and threats pour forth. At another time the parent may merely intercept the youngster and keep him from the fire. At still another time there may be a severe spanking after the second or third warning.

Strangely enough the parent may be highly educated, and otherwise a very intelligent person!

In the event you wish to prove yourself less childish and more grown up and intelligent as a parent, resolve that you are going to discipline yourself rigidly in regard to commands. You are going to be sure to make no unnecessary command. Once you are sure it is necessary you will be certain you have the child's attention and see that he clearly hears the command. If you are forbidding a young child to play with fire don't repeat the command even once. In case the child does not quit, immediately spank him soundly right then and there. If in an hour or so he plays in the fire again, don't command. Spank him instantly. Give him pain always thereafter for the same offense until he ceases this forbidden act permanently. Allow no exceptions.

Spanking Sometimes Necessary

If a day or two later he plays in the fire, you will be tempted to warn him, or yell at him, or even to lure him away "so he won't get into trouble." This is bad procedure since it only prolongs the problem, and renders his avoidance of the fire, and obedience to you in other situations less certain. Any act of his warranting a spanking once should bring immediate spanking thereafter without fail; unless, of course, you discovered in the meanwhile you had made a mistake, in which event you would tell the child so and ask him to pardon you.

As soon as a child will stay where he is put without being tied or held, it is better to assign him to sit in a chair where you can see him for exactly twenty minutes. This type of punishment is better than spanking. Indeed, you can get along without spanking entirely as soon as the chair-sitting punishment can be carried out effectively.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THE FAR EAST

"On the road to Mandalay, where the flying fishes play"—according to Kipling's somewhat erratic geography—lies the great troubling artery through which pour millions, weapons and supplies enabling China to wage an unyielding resistance to Japan.

This famed route, known as the Burma Road, extends for 2100 miles from the seaport of Rangoon to Chungking in the heart of China. It stands as one of the world's grand roadbuilding achievements. Only consider that 1400 miles of it were recently laid out, surveyed and built by native labor—without a single piece of roadbuilding equipment. Chinese workmen gouged out rock and earth with hand implements, used bullock carts to haul away the debris, carved their own stone rollers out of rock and with these smoothed down the road surfaces.

With rail lines blowing up and sea ports lost, China has found China. In her motor fleets the one dependable and economic means of moving supplies. Despite air bombardment, trucks by the thousands continue to pour over its 2100-mile length. China, to be sure, has spent millions in this country to build up her motor or transport system, having found it the one type of transportation with the flexibility and stamina to stand up under an unceasing baptism of fire. This has been America's good fortune as well as China's for the United States, too, is receiving precious aid from the American-made transport fleets rolling down the Burma Road. Large quantities of Chinese tungsten, a vital defense material, are today moving over that highway destined for the United States, which produces only ten per cent of its tungsten but uses more than fifty per cent of the world's output of the metal.

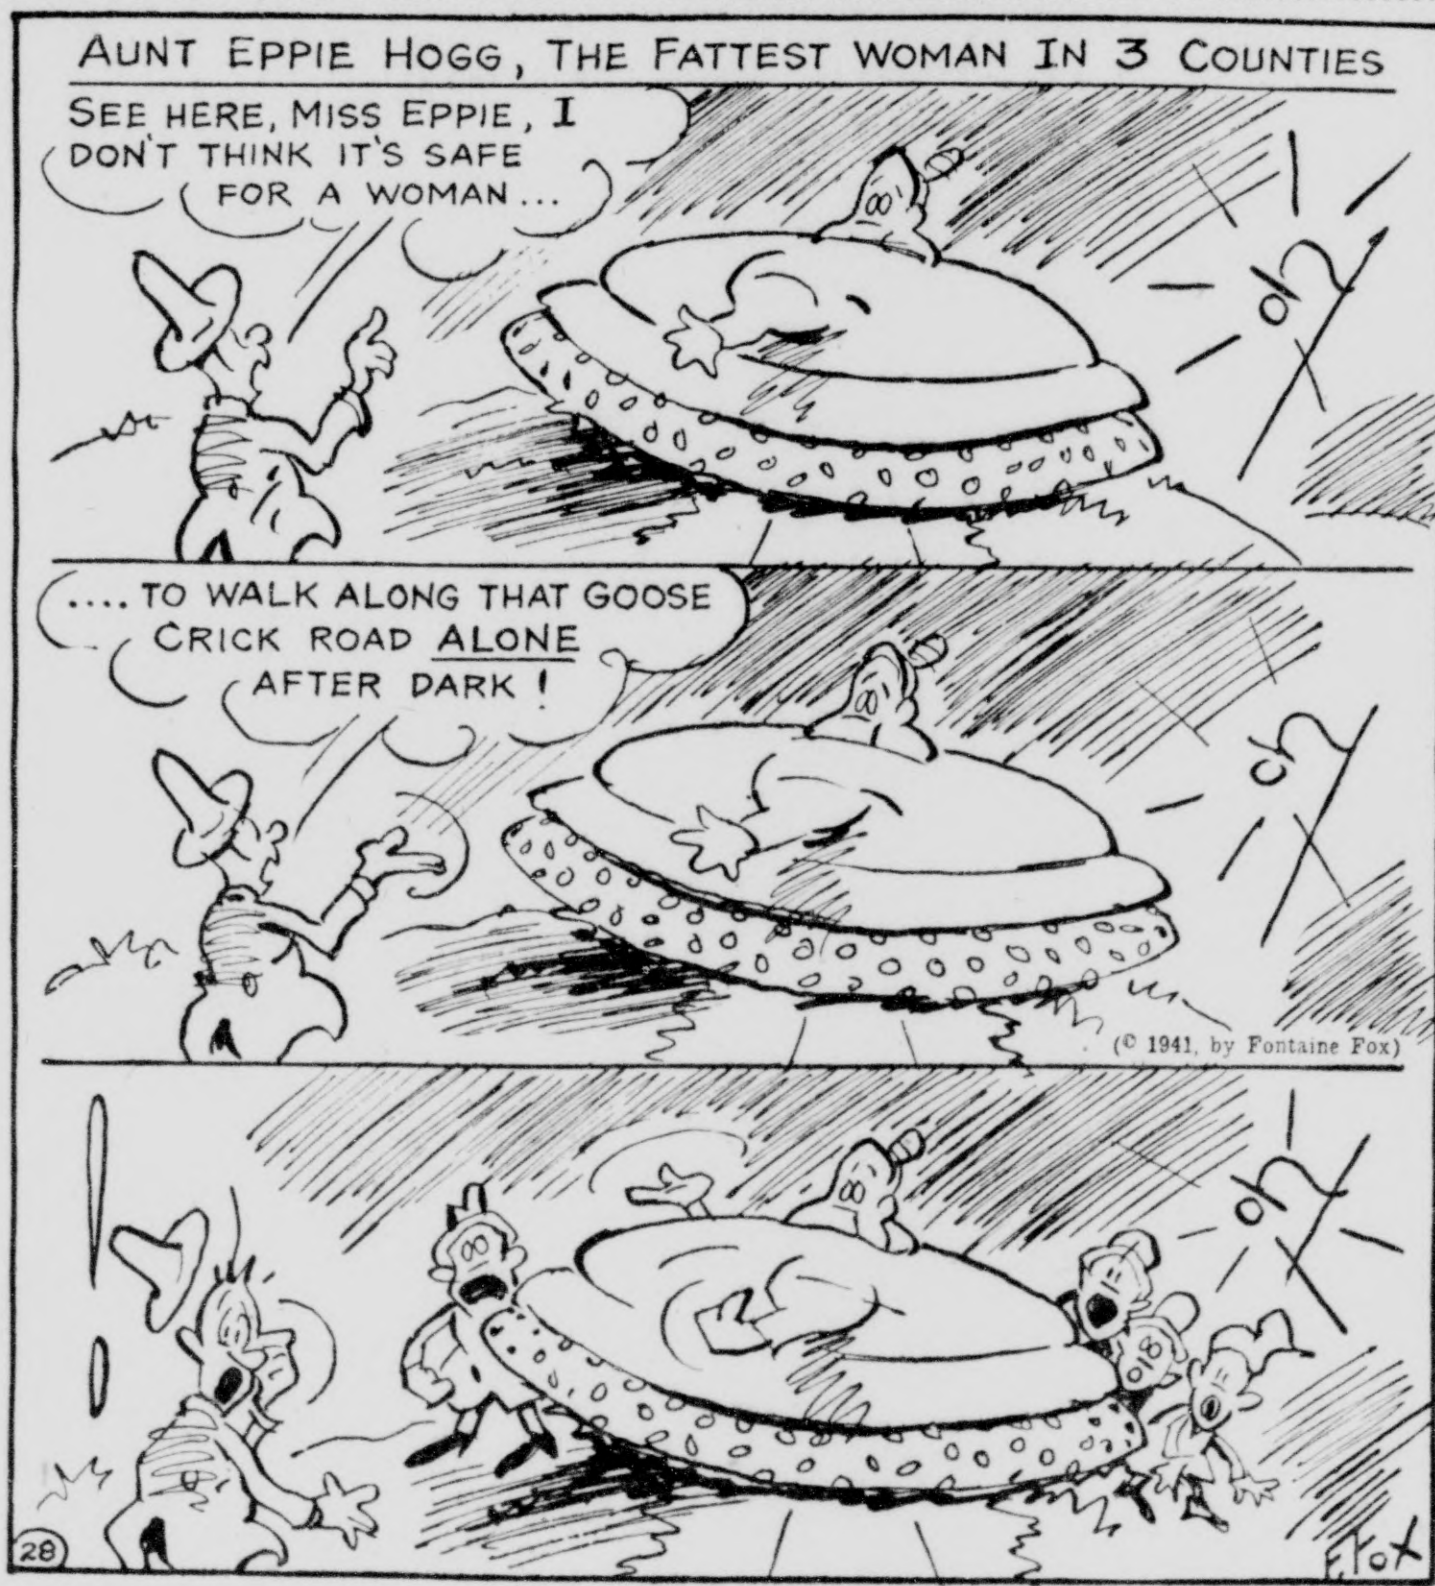

The Burma Road is proving to be not only a lifeline of China's defense, but of America's as well.

Answer: If she thus spoke to you in a pleasant manner, I think she was entirely within her rights. Before you make a "telephone visit" to a friend make sure that she has the temperament to enjoy such attention. Often a home phone is located where it is inconvenient or uncomfortable for the listener and under those circumstances it becomes impossible for one's best friend to relax and enjoy even the most delicious bit of gossip or most startling item of news. Moreover, there are some people who are made nervous by phone conversations. And then, do remember always that no mature persons like to be interrupted during mealtime—especially a wife who has to serve her own dinner.

Question: My daughter will be married at 8:30 in the evening. We will have a small group of friends at our home after the church ceremony. What do you suggest that I serve?—Mrs. W.

Answer: Why not serve a buffet supper of cold meats, Swiss cheese, a salad, coffee, rolls and wedding cake.

Question: I always help my girl put on her coat, of course. On several occasions, I have asked her to help me put on my top coat. While she has never refused, I have at times noted an expression of disapproval in her face. Am I unreasonable to expect her to so help me?—Fred.

Answer: I am afraid you are! You should struggle into your coat without her assistance. For, while a man should assist a woman, she should never be expected nor asked to help him on with his coat, any more than she would be expected to hold out his chair at table or stand when he comes into a room. A man assumes a protective attitude toward the woman he is escorting and she just sits back and takes it.

Question: What is the meaning of the menu term "pure" and how is it pronounced?—Pat.

Answer: It is a French word meaning a thick soup of vegetables and pronounced pey-ray.

Latin America Offers Tough Problems
Vice President Wallace Is In Charge
Must Smooth Out Neighbor's Disputes

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Besides attending to the vice presidency, it's proclaimed from the White House that Henry A. Wallace is to be the administration's chief keeper-up of lovely relations among all the Pan-American republics.

Primarily we want our Latin neighbors to go on liking us, here in the United States, as they're beginning to do under the Roosevelt regime, after considerable preceding bad management on our part, and some on theirs, too, perhaps.

There's another thing we also want, though. It's important, from the standpoint of the whole Pan-American outfit, to have the various southern governments on good terms with one another. Independence of us, they quarrel among themselves occasionally. It will be principally up to Henry to smooth out any such unpleasantnesses as may develop.

Our v. p. is delegated to look after this particular job because he's quite a Latin American specialist. He got interested in our neighbors somehow, studied them intensively, learned to speak Spanish (he'll need to acquire Portuguese likewise) and understands the new worldly Latin temperament much better than the average Yanqui. That's their word for Yankee.

Between spells of vice presidential duty in the senate chamber it's expected that Henry will pay visits to the southern continent. He paid one to Mexico not long ago and it wasn't much of a success. A Mexican political faction stoned our embassy while he was there. That wasn't his fault, however. It was due to a row between Mexicans themselves, and we happened to get a bit of the overflow.

He Laughed It Off. It simply was one of those rumormongers mentioned above as always liable to break out to the south of us, which it will be Henry's mission to try to pacify. Indeed, maybe he helped to pacify that one. It subsided, anyway. Henry behaved admirably. He just laughed off making a diplomatic incident out of it. That's precisely the right way to get on with those mercurial neighbors of ours.

At this very juncture a situation's starting to present itself that may call for plenty of Henry's best guessing.

It appears that the Axis powers are getting from Latin America large quantities of supplies they greatly need to go on with their war against Britain. Britain's Atlantic blockade shuts off the Axis' Latin American source across that ocean, though it's said a little easily portable stuff is transplanted by plane. Bulkier shipments, however, are ferried from the west coast over the Pacific to Japan, thence to Vladivostok, thence through Siberia and European Russia to Germany. Britain's navy is too busy on the Atlantic and in the Mediterranean to patrol the Pacific and, since we're supposed not to be in the war, our Pacific fleet can't do it.

To be sure, it's no secret that we're opposed to the supplying of the Axis via the Pacific and Japan-Russia route. And, so far as the United States is concerned, we can prevent it by a policy of export embargoes. In fact, to a certain extent, though not wholly, we've done it. But we can't dictate embargoes to the Latin Americas—not without making them perfectly furious and knocking our entire Pan-American good neighborly program into a cocked hat.

And the Latin Americas show no signs of an inclination to slap on any embargoes. It's natural that they shouldn't; they want that outlet for their surpluses. Well, an alternative's suggested. It's this.

Let U. S. Buy It? Let the United States buy up all of those Latin American surpluses, leaving nothing to be sold to the Axis aggregation.

Now Latin America does produce a few commodities that we require in almost unlimited quantities—such as tin, coffee and some miscellaneous tropical stuff. In the main, though, they produce about the same things that we do. So how are we going to buy them out 100 per cent, dumping our purchases onto our domestic market in competition with Yankee production?

One answer is that we might hand the whole collection over to Britain. Yet if we did we know we never would be paid for it. And the cost of buying out Latin America bodily, on top of defensive preparedness and weapons, munitions, maritime and aviation aid to John Bull would be terrific. Are we due to feed as well as arm him?

Isn't that a problem for Henry Wallace to chew on?

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

In the back street of the newspaper, among sweepings and tallings of trade news, there is a little item which jumps out and barks at you, if you pass that way. "How to sell while you dance" is the heading. The Arthur Murray studios announce a special course on "The Art of Salesmanship While Dancing." It is one of several similar courses on "Social Salesmanship." It is explained that since much selling is now being done at social affairs, there should be "proper training in the correct way to introduce such matters."

We have not gone into this very deeply, but our impression is that a social arbiter would penalize you about ten yards if you flashed any such talk at a social occasion. In fact, that idea is quite deeply implanted in our manners and mores, and there seems to be something quite revolutionary in this new dance enterprise. It may be in step with the times, though. We're just so-so as a dancer and not even that as a salesman.

There isn't much historical precedent. Salome did a wonderful job of selling, of course, when she danced before Herod. Then there was that little cutie, Mlle. Beauvois, who danced with Tallyrand and got him on the dotted line in a trick deal which had been contrived by one of his political enemies. One can foresee strange doings when this new idea gets going. Here's a handsome, trim-rigged beau sauteur, proud of his figure and limber as an eel, coming into the Stork club on a pair of crutches. Answering sympathetic friends, he says:

"I danced with a girl who had

Air Raid Alarms Sound In London During Daytime

Eighth Consecutive Night Is Passed Without Any Air
Raids By Nazis

(International News Service)
LONDON, Jan. 28.—A new air raid alarm—London's third of the day and 451st of the war—sounded in the British capital this afternoon. Anti-aircraft batteries were active.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Two air raid alarms sounded in London today after the capital had passed its eighth consecutive night of respite from Nazi air attacks.

The second alarm—London's 450th of the war—sounded shortly after noon.

Willie Hears Alarm
Late in the morning the first alarm sounded just as Wendell Willie was motoring from an inspection of bomb damage at St. Paul's Cathedral to the Bank of England for an interview with its governor, Montagu Norman.

The all-clear sounded half an hour later after anti-aircraft fire dispersed a group of raiders sighted over the outskirts of London. No bombs were dropped.

No German air activity occurred over Britain during the night and the air ministry announced there was "nothing to report."

Would Provide State Funds For Street Repairs

Bills Introduced Into Legislature To Provide $11,000,- 000 For Repair Of City Streets

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 28.—Bills providing for state appropriations of approximately $11,000,000 for the repair and upkeep by the state of city highways were on file today in the House of Representatives.

Rep. Elmer J. Holland, Allegheny Democrat, introduced a measure appropriating $3,950,000 to the highway department from the motor license fund for the calendar years 1941 and 1942, to be disbursed as follows:

Philadelphia $1,750,000.
Pittsburgh $1,000,000.
Scranton $1,000,000.
Third class cities $1,110,000.

The money to be paid to Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton would be made in eight installments on the first day of January, April, July and October. The money to be paid to third class cities would be distributed on a mileage basis, which the bill neglected to explain.

All of this money would be used exclusively for street repairs.

More Than 200 Contagious Cases

So far this month 206 cases of contagion, largely measles, have been reported to the city health bureau this month according to Sanitary Policeman Chauncey Davis.

This has required many trips because he has had to post a quarantine sign then remove it when the contagion ended.

The quarantine in such cases exists as follows: from onset, measles, 16 days; scarlet fever, 30 days, and chickenpox, 16 days.

Leahy Denies Statement In Belgian Press

(International News Service)
VICHY, France, Jan. 28.—In a formal statement to the press, Admiral William Leahy, American ambassador to France, today emphatically denounced an assertion attributed to him by a Belgian newspaper that "Britain will be defeated in the present war."

The ambassador denied absolutely that he had made any such assertion.

"The report published in Belgium is completely false," Leahy stated. "My personal opinion is that the British government can and will prosecute the present war to a successful conclusion."

State Housing Board Selected, Await Approval

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 28.—The Senate committee on executive nominations today was considering Gov. Arthur H. James' nominations for membership on the state board of housing.

The vacancies have existed since May, 1939. Nominated were: George E. Evans, Pittsburgh, to serve until 1945; Vance E. McCormick, Harrisburg publisher, to serve until 1944; Charles L. Suhr, Oil City, to serve until 1943; Arthur C. Kaufmann, Ardmore, to serve until 1942; and Tudor R. Williams, Scranton, to serve until August 17, 1941.

Rumania Will March Beside Germany, Italy

Premier Antonescu Proclaims Stand—Cabinet Shakeup Concluded

(International News Service)
BUCHAREST, Jan. 28.—After eliminating all Iron Guardists and followers of former King Carol from his government, Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu proclaimed today that Rumania will march without hesitation beside Germany and Italy.

A British radio broadcast picked up in New York by NBC said it was reported all Bucharest buildings will be surveyed immediately for the planning of air raid shelters.

His drastic cabinet shake-up completed, Antonescu issued a significant statement placing his nation squarely beside the Axis powers in their drive to establish a "new order" in Europe.

"The new Rumanian government aims at restoring order throughout the country and normalcy in the administration," Antonescu said.

The statement was issued from his home, where the premier has been confined for two days by an attack of grippe.

Two Replacements Sent To Pittsburgh By City Board Two

Volunteers Are Sent To Induction Board To Replace
Two Men Rejected

Local board No. 2 of New Castle, sent two men to the induction station at Pittsburgh this morning, to replace two men who were rejected in their final physical examinations last week because of minor defects.

The two men, both volunteers, were Florio Pitocchi, of 207 South Cedar street, and Albert Moses, of 27 West Long avenue. They will replace Mike Bobber, of 203 Scott street, and John Lombardo, of 104 South Wayne street.

The board is now getting ready the February class for induction, which will include eleven men from local board two. The board has a few volunteers for this draft, but not enough to complete the entire list, it is stated.

U. S. Hopes To Halt Supplies Going To Nazis

Will Use Export Licensing To Prevent Trans-shipment
From Russia

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—By using the export licensing system as a "big stick" with which to spank Moscow, if necessary, the United States government hopes to prevent the future trans-shipment of vital American war supplies to Germany via Russia, authoritative quarters disclosed today.

Although no concrete assurances have been received from Moscow that supplies purchased in the future will not be transhipped to Germany, American officials are confident the export licensing system will serve as a means of putting a quick stop to any such action by the Soviets.

American officials see in the export licensing system a formidable diplomatic weapon with which to exert pressure on Moscow to behave insofar as this country is concerned. Under the combined defense program and licensing system, Russia could not get a toothpick from the United States directly unless the American government wanted to let it out of the country.

The commission said that secretary of public assistance Howard L. Russell "is sincerely and honestly trying to provide an efficient and fair administration, but is handicapped by the attitude of staff members who are influenced by a case work philosophy rather than being concerned with investigating the applicant's actual need."

The commission charged that present methods of investigating applicants for relief are "loose-jointed, inefficient tabulations of data."

Assaults Worker's Alliance

"We are convinced that special favors should no longer be given the Worker's Alliance, because of the abuses to which relief in this state has been subject through the anti-social activities of this group," stated Commission Chairman Turner.

A rotating system of investigations and counter-checks was recommended to safeguard the state against "chiselers" with heavy penalties provided for investigators "who knowingly grant relief to any person who is not entitled to it."

Under further commission recommendations, county boards would be authorized to oust employees for "unpatriotic activities" or "membership in any political party or organization designed to destroy the American form of government."

In addition, the almost 7,000 employees of the department of public assistance would be restrained from joining any union other than a "company" or "departmental union."

Humbert Auxiliary Social Wednesday

Members of the King Humbert auxiliary and their friends will meet in the King Humbert hall, Wednesday evening, at which time, a social gathering will take place, at 8 o'clock.

Informal diversions will be enjoyed, including cards and other games. Later a lunch will be served by the committee.

Those in charge of the arrangements are: Angelina Frasso, Mrs. Rose Costa, Mrs. Rose Benincase, Mrs. D. Smarrelli, Mrs. Eleanor Frasso, Mrs. Elizabeth Melito, Mrs. Mary Icolana, Mrs. K. Gillett, Mrs. B. DeGennaro, and Mrs. Teresa Ambrose.

Mr. J. C. Of C. Show Planned For April

New Castle Junior Chamber of Commerce members will present a patriotic stage extravaganza, "All American Follies," for the benefit of their industrial promotion work on the nights of April 16 and 17. It was announced at last night's meeting of the organization in The Castleton.

Taking roles will be junior chamber men and others interested in amateur stage work.

Members last night inspected blueprints of the National Youth Administration's new "work experience center" for which ground has just been broken at Cunningham park. Vice President John P. Brington presided in the absence of President Earl C. Ruby, ill with the flu.

OVERHAULING OF RELIEF SYSTEM IN STATE URGED

Delaware, issued a voluminous report which struck at relief chiseling, inefficient investigations, overlapping administrative bureaus, and the subversive influence of un-American groups "which have tried to color the course of relief."

Eight Point Program
In line with its report, the commission introduced an eight-point program in the house and senate, which, it asserted, would, if enacted into law, "result in a complete overhauling of the state relief system."

The commission recommended that county boards of assistance be given full administrative powers to handle relief in their respective territories and that the department of public assistance at Harrisburg become an advisory instead of a supervisory agency.

The commission said that secretary of public assistance Howard L. Russell "is sincerely and honestly trying to provide an efficient and fair administration, but is handicapped by the attitude of staff members who are influenced by a case work philosophy rather than being concerned with investigating the applicant's actual need."

The Human Side Of The News

the right people in town. You have there about forty column inches of the most valuable advertising space in America. Now if you will give me an opinion on the space—"

Mr. Forbes was insulted at first, but finally listened to reason. Society was indulgent at first, when Mr. Forbes got into circulation with his signboard shirt-front, taking it as one of his merry little jokes, as they had the wine-selling campaigns of his predecessor Ned Greenway, who had become the social czar of the town. But one old dowager didn't like the idea and there was an embarrassing contretemps when she bopped Mr. Forbes in the shirt front with a bowl of caviar. So there is, of course, plenty of precedent for social selling, if not of selling while you dance, or vice versa. There was Harry Lehr, wine-seller and social idol, and there still is Herr von Rippentrop.

But Mr. Murray seems to be the first to decree that the boys must have rhythm. "Tear off a few steps," says the head of the personnel department, examining young job-seekers. It's good news for jitterbugs, but not so good for Nelson Rockefeller's Committee on Cultural and Commercial Relations with Latin-America. They shoot people down there for mixing up society and business.

Asserts U. S. Has Eyes On Azores

(International News Service)
ROME, Jan. 28.—Charges that the United States has imperialistic designs upon Europe and now is casting longing eyes on the Azores were made today by Virginio Gayda, authoritative press spokesman for Premier Mussolini.

"America's resounding phrases regarding hemisphere protection, liberty and democracy, actually hide a vast offensive and imperialist military plan, Gayda said.

"The United States wants the Falkland Islands (British possessions off Southern Argentina) and even more. She aspires to advanced watchposts of the European continent."

HOW TO GET A LOAN

TO PAY UP OLD BILLS
You can get $100 to pay old debts or other expenses if you can repay $6.97 a month for 18 months—No endorsers or guarantors needed—A simple, private way to borrow.

HAVE unusual expenses caught you short of ready cash? Do you need money to pay old bills? If you have a steady job, you can readily borrow $20 to $300—and repay in small monthly installments.

Suppose that you need $100. Find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment you wish to make. 12 monthly installments of $9.75 each, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full. The cost, in this case, averages less than 5c a day.

You may prefer smaller payments. Only $6.97 a month for 18 months will also repay a $100 loan. The amount you borrow and the time you take to repay it determines the cost. You can borrow $25 for two months, for instance, for only 94c.

Borrow for less
Installments in the table include all charges at Household's rate of 2 1/2% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

Simple to get a loan
All you do to apply for your loan is to acquaint us with your problem. Loans are made on furniture, car or note. This spares you the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to act as endorsers. At no time do we ask friends or relatives about your credit. If you should get sick or lose your job while paying on your loan, we will allow you every consideration.

You are invited to phone or visit us for further information at any time. No obligation to borrow!

City Will Dance Thursday Night

Whole Town Ready For 'Birthday Ball'; Dimes Marching In

New Castle's civic heart will open wide with the rest of the nation this week to bring physical comfort and happiness to those fighting infantile paralysis.

The day-by-day contributions which citizens are making to the national "march of dimes" campaign, reaching into drug stores, offices and plants, will strike to a grand crescendo when the whole town dances at the Cathedral Thursday evening, January 30, in the annual President's Birthday Ball.

Planners and leaders of the benefit undertaking here were confident today hundreds of couples will be at the Cathedral Thursday night. Their entertainment has been the thoughts of committees for weeks.

America is united to defeat infantile paralysis, and funds raised here by the ball will be shared fifty-fifty by New Castle hospitals and national headquarters of the infantile paralysis foundation.

"Wheel chairs and braces cost money, but we think New Castle will provide a good sum for their purchase for us here," Assemblyman Preley N. Jones, general chairman, assured.

Meanwhile, before the dance, spare a dime or so for that same worthy cause. Look around and you'll find a silent collector in some store.

Junior Hi-Y Boys To See Army Films

Boys from three city schools and a township school — George Washington, Ben Franklin and Mahoning and Union Township high — tonight will participate in a Junior Hi-Y rally at the Y. M. C. A.

U. S. Army talkie films will be shown and the clubs will discuss their part in the state-wide Bible study contest already launched by the state Y. M. C. A.

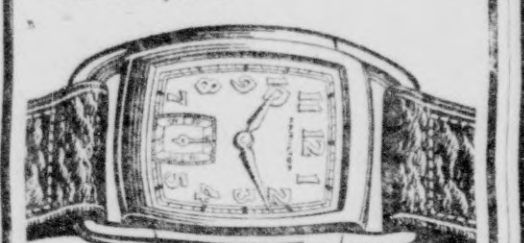

Future Junior Hi-Y events will be announced by John D. Thompson, boys' work director of the "Y."

News Briefs From City Hall

C. Ed. Brown, city clerk, today received from David Davidson, 168 Highborn street, Revere, Mass., a request for the present address of Gladys E. Grant, who formerly lived at 118 North Mill street, this city. That was about 1925, according to Davidson.

It was stated today by C. Ed. Brown that records of births were kept by the City Clerk between the years 1876 and 1889 inclusive. City Clerk Brown added that he often issues records from the files in his possession. In those days physicians were required to register such information.

Fire Chief James Thomas today received sanction from city council to temporarily employ several men as firemen because of illness in the department. Thomas will select the men from the list of civil service eligibles, he stated.

School children at North street miss Patrolman Robert Hanna, their guardian at the East and North St. crossing. The officer who wears a smile for all of the school children is confined to his home by illness. M. F. Meider substituted for Patrolman Hanna today.

It was clean up and shine up with Battery F and Second Battalion Service Battery, of the 190th Field Artillery, this morning, in preparation for inspection this afternoon by Major J. H. F. Bittner, Captain Shively, and Lieutenant Bayer, of Headquarters, at Tyrone.

The signal section, Battery F was busy this morning cleaning their equipment, under Sergeant Ben Neale, consisting of three portable telephones, a switch board, two wire reels, two sets of climbers. The peace time crew consists of one switchboard operator, five telephone operators, three linemen, one messenger and signaller, one sergeant, and one corporal.

First and second gun sections of Battery F spent an hour this morning, cleaning the big field rifle, six inch gun, and had it looking spic and span, under direction of Sergeant C. C. Pollock and William Broad, Lieutenant Atkinson inspected the finished work.

The Service Battery, supervised by Lieutenant Robert Lee Moore was also busy making a cleanup of equipment and quarters, preparatory to inspection. The men in this unit are shaping up better every day, under the command of Captain William H. Goehring.

The issuing of field equipment to the men of this unit has been completed, consisting of mess kits, mosquito nets, canteens, shelter halves, etc.

Asserts Britain With Full American Aid Will Win War

Lamont Says War Or Peace Is Question Only Hitler Will Decide

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—A prediction that with full American aid Great Britain will win the war was made Tuesday by Thomas W. Lamont, vice-chairman of the board of directors of J. P. Morgan & Co., Inc.

In an address to the Merchants' Association of New York, Lamont urged that Congress formulate whatever amendments are necessary to the lend-lease bill and pass the legislation speedily. He called for national unity in support of the President, of plans to aid England of our national defense, stating that the "salvation of England is for us a matter of self-preservation."

"Even though England is in dire peril," Lamont said, "provided we furnish her full and speedy aid, she will certainly win. I am impatient with all this talk that Britain at best can never defeat Germany. I say that Germany can be beaten, she is being beaten, and she will be beaten."

Discussing British aid, Lamont, a life-long Republican, declared that it is fruitless to argue whether "this or that step will lead us into war," adding:

"We Americans are not going to have peace just because we say we love peace. We are not going to keep out of war just because we say we are going to keep out. The issue of peace or war rests, not with us, but with Hitler. He makes war when he pleases, how he pleases and against whom he pleases."

Lamont said he opposed entry of the United States into the war, but added "if we are forced into it, it will be because free America cannot remain free in a world dominated by Germany."

Mrs. Willkie Not So Enthusiastic About Nazi Raids

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Mrs. Wendell Willkie, soft-spoken wife of America's most famous recent visitor to London, showed qualified perturbation today when informed that Willkie had received his baptism of fire in World War II during a Nazi air raid alarm this morning.

"I'm fully in accord with giving aid to Britain, but not in giving my husband," Mrs. Willkie said thoughtfully, she added:

"The Germans probably will 'put on a show' while my husband is there. I'll be glad when he gets back to neutral Lisbon."

Rebuild Tractor To Get Practice For Battery Men

While the men of Battery F and Second Battalion Service Battery, were getting ready this morning at the Cunningham Armory, for inspection, this afternoon, Motor Sergeant Lou Harlan paraded his rebuilt Fordson tractor, a few times around the drill hall. The machine needed no horn to announce its coming or presence, as it made a deafening clatter in its movements.

It had been secured from a local junk yard, and had afforded Sergeant Harlan and his aides in the Motor Corps, much practice repairing and putting the parts together, and getting the combination to run again.

Air Raid Shelter Sites Would Be Selected Shortly

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 28.—County commissioners may soon be called upon to provide air raid shelters for bomb-conscious Pennsylvanians.

Rep. John L. Powers, (D), Allegheny, has introduced a measure in the house requiring county commissioners to ascertain "as soon as possible" all abandoned coal mines, tunnels and other possible air raid shelters in their counties. The information would be forwarded to the department of military affairs.

The bill was referred to committee.

FUEL OIL DEALERS WOULD BE TAXED BY NEW HOUSE MEASURE

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 28.—A three-cent-per gallon emergency tax to be levied on fuel oil distributors was proposed today under a bill filed with the house of representatives by Rep. J. Noble Hirsch, (D) Schuylkill.

The act would affect the use, sale and delivery of fuel oil within the state, with a number of exceptions including fuel oil used or sold to a refinery for the manufacture of gasoline.

Distributors found operating without a permit would be liable to a $2,000 fine and two years' imprisonment. Applicants for a permit would be required to post $1,500 bond.

This new organization is comprised of boys and girls of high school age. Meetings will be held each Sunday evening at 6:45 o'clock in the church.

Sponsors for the organization are Mrs. Paul Bender and Mrs. P. A. Gibson. Mrs. G. E. Shaffer is the society pianist.

RADIATORS WIN
OVER WARD TEAM

A picked team from the National Radiator Dux-pin league took the measure of the local Progressive club team Sunday afternoon by finishing strong in the final game of the match.

Although the Progressives were ahead in total pins, the Rads took two out of three games, winning the final game by a mere margin of four points.

S. Hattie had a high of 211 for one game for the winners while T. Monath also rolled well for the Rads. James Pedro and Alec Pacella were the best for the losers.

LOOKING FOR GAMES

The Progressive club dux-pin team is anxious to schedule matches with local or out-of-town teams. Managers may make arrangements for games by writing to Patsy J. Farrone at 115 Montgomery avenue.

Man Is Suicide

Frank C. Roudybush, 31, Believed Brooding Over Being Called To Army By Draft

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Jan. 28.—Belief was expressed today that Frank C. Roudybush, 31, of New Kensington, had committed suicide by taking his own life with a .22 calibre rifle near the home of his sweet heart, Miss Florence Frederick, 34, of Cabot, Pa.

Roudybush, an employee in a Brackenridge steel mill, was found in a barn early yesterday by Simon Frederick, the girl's father, and rushed to Butler Memorial hospital, where he died 11 hours later.

"I knew something was wrong with Frank, but he wouldn't tell me what it was," Miss Frederick said. "He kept telling me he was going away. He seemed in good spirits Sunday night."

She added that he had been brooding about being drafted. A note, addressed to Miss Frederick and signed "Frank" said: "Sorry, I didn't want to make anyone trouble. Please forgive me. I meant what I said last night."

GETTING SAFE HELP IN YOUR HOME

To repeat, in part, what I said here yesterday: the most important thing for you to determine about a woman or girl in hiring her as a nursemaid for your young children, is whether she is in good health. This advice goes for any kind of help you are taking into your home.

I'd like to suggest some sound rules for hiring domestic help, based on years of observations of many homes:

1. Make up your mind, before you advertise for or interview help, the limit you can pay in wages. Don't try to get the cheapest types, but endeavor to get the best help you can for what you can afford to pay. Consider how much a decent, self-respecting girl or woman has to have to live on for a week, and try to pay that.
2. Try, if you have room for it or can arrange for it, to have "sleep in" help. Give her a room of her own, and, if possible, a bathroom. If there isn't a separate bathroom for her, let it be understood that the family bathroom is to be hers for a certain hour each day and really let it be hers, so she can keep clean without having to feel that a great favor has been done her. Having her "sleep in" will help insure that she isn't carrying infection from one home and family to another every day.
3. Don't expect her to work 16 hours a day, six days a week, and do her best every minute. Give her decent hours, even if it means that the lazy members of the family will have to get up earlier in the morning and insure her a whole day off each week, and if she desires it, an additional afternoon. It will be better perhaps, if the mother arranges to take care of baby herself early in the day, so the nursemaid will be available for the "heavy part" of the day and care for the child while the parents go out in the evening. If the maid isn't worn out when the children are to be bathed and coaxed to bed, it'll be better for the children, too.
4. By all means have a nurse-

House Committee Also Holds Secret Hearing On Bill

Admiral Stark Is Heard On 'Lend-Lease' Bill On Monday Afternoon

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 — The navy's highest officer, Admiral Harold R. Stark, told the House Foreign Affairs Committee in a lengthy secret session Monday that he is wholeheartedly in favor of the lend-lease bill and warned that this nation must speed completion of its projected two-ocean navy if it intends to defend the Americas.

While Admiral Stark was behind closed doors with the house committee, Secretary of State Hull had a similar secret session with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee during which he was understood to have warned the members that they must not forget that the threat to America is dual — from Europe and from Asia as well.

Admiral Stark's appearance was in executive session as the outgrowth of a row in the house committee last week when opponents of the bill sought to summon him for public testimony on the actual dangers of invasion—dangers which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had minimized in testimony Wednesday. What the admiral told them on this score was not immediately known because all members were sworn to secrecy.

However it was reported that Admiral Stark strongly urged speed in constructing a two-ocean navy on the ground that with the present naval force it would be impossible to defend the western hemisphere any further than the east coast line of Brazil.

The senate committee's session with Hull was behind locked doors reportedly because several members wanted to question him on this government's knowledge of British "war aims" and to determine the nature of the missions of Harry Hopkins and Wendell L. Willkie who are in England now.

DAILY DOZEN
(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

How is the physical fitness of applicants for military service?

One-third of a large group were rejected as physically unfit.

Yet many of these rejected men were not actually in ill health.

Many of their defects were structural or psychological weaknesses.

One can be in quite good health and have flat feet.

Flat feet is sufficient cause for rejection to the army.

Lots of people have false teeth but enjoy good health.

To enter army service, one must have a definite number of teeth.

Americans, on the average, are healthier than during the World war.

Tuberculosis has been reduced—physiques improved.

Many defects in rejected men could have been corrected earlier.

Periodic physical examinations indicate man's physical fitness.

NANCARROW GETS NEW P. R. R. POST

Heads Lake Grand Division, Including E. & A. And Cleveland

H. L. Nancarrow, for the past year superintendent of the Pittsburgh division, with headquarters at Pittsburgh, has been promoted to general superintendent of the Lake division of the Pennsylvania railroad, with headquarters at Cleveland, it was announced today by E. W. Smith, vice president.

Nancarrow will succeed Walter W. Patchell, promoted to general superintendent of the Eastern Pennsylvania division, with headquarters at Harrisburg.

A graduate of Bucknell University, Nancarrow entered the service of the Pennsylvania railroad as a draftsman in the office of the superintendent of motive power at Philadelphia on October 7, 1920.

As general superintendent of the Lake division, Nancarrow will have general charge of the Cleveland and Erie & Ashtabula divisions.

Nancarrow will be succeeded at Pittsburgh by F. W. Stoops. The changes are effective February 1.

public Monday by Buick division of General Motors Corp.

Dale E. Williams, who will be executive head of the $31,000,000 plant, announced at a meeting of civic, state and educational leaders yesterday that Buick will break ground for the new defense plant in suburban Melrose Park within 45 days. It was expected the plant will be turning out its capacity number of engines by the middle of next year.

The plant will make Pratt & Whitney 1,200 horsepower, air-cooled engines, which will be shipped to various parts of the country for assembly into planes.

Williams said 10,000 workers will be employed at an annual pay-roll of about $17,000,000. All but a few will be taken from the local labor market, he said. Less than 200 men, trained to fit into key posts in the plant, will be brought from GM's Michigan factories.

Bats possess the ability to fly through woods on the darkest night without touching branches and similar obstructions. Apparently they are able to do so because of the highly sensitive nerves in their wings which feel objects before actually touching them.

British War Relief Society Here Planning Further Functions To Raise Money

Efforts are being continued by the Lawrence County Unit of the British War Relief Society, to secure the money necessary to purchase a mobile feeding unit, which will be the gift of New Castle citizens to the residents of Newcastle, Eng.

These mobile units cost $2,000, which includes the cost of shipment and insurance. They have equipment built into the motorized unit, which will serve hot foods to evacuees and occupants of bombed areas, to firemen fighting blazes caused by German bombers, etc.

Various functions are being prepared in the near future in order to

Many Bills Are Introduced Into Legislature Monday

Legislature Now Ready For Work

Expect Session Will Last Well Into Spring Before Adjournment

MANY IMPORTANT BILLS PRESENTED

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Jan. 28.—With its legislative session filled with scores of new bills, the 134th session of the general assembly opened in earnest today what is expected to be a long session lasting well into the spring.

After holding several perfunctory sessions which lasted only several hours and were given up largely to organizational work, the legislature put its committees to work sorting out 194 bills which have been introduced in the house and senate.

Most In House
By far the greater majority—78 in the house and 33 in the senate—was introduced last night. Eighty-three bills were introduced two weeks ago when the legislature met for the second time and then recessed for a fortnight to permit members to attend the President's inauguration. The only other meeting was the opening one on January 7, when the governor addressed a joint session.

The legislature now has 194 bills in committee. Some may be reported out today, but most of them will not see the light of day until later. The senate was the only one with a calendar today, consisting of a measure sponsored by John R. Dent, (D), Westmoreland, which would increase from 17 to 24 the number of members of the joint state government commission.

The senate was to meet at 11 today and the house at 1. Both were expected to recess after short sessions until next Monday, when Gov. Arthur H. James is expected to hand down his biennial budget. He will address the legislature in person.

Although yesterday's sessions were short—the senate met for two and one-half hours and the house for one and one-half hours—much important legislation was introduced. Many of the bills were controversial in nature.

Some Of Measures
Some of the measures introduced would:

1. Reapportion the legislature, by adding one member, thus increasing the number to 209. A similar reapportionment measure, enacted in 1937, was invalidated by the courts.
2. Repeal the Pierson work-relief act under which relief recipients may be required to "work out" their state dole.
3. Amend the workmen's compensation act by changing the maximum and minimum rates and making numerous other changes.
4. Provide for the non-partisan nomination and election of judges.
5. Improve the tax methods of the state.
6. Revise the liquor laws so that quarter sessions courts instead of the liquor control board would henceforth grant licenses. Exempt private clubs from the quota act.
7. Increase teachers' salaries, appropriate $4,000,000 for the remainder of this biennium for financially handicapped schools, and change the teachers' tenure law to permit appeals by disciplined teachers to common pleas courts rather than to the superintendent of public instruction.
8. Enact a full-crew law to replace the 1937 measure thrown out by the courts.
9. Appropriate additional millions of state funds for the upkeep of local government roads.

"BE KIND AND GOOD TO ALL"
I see so much of hate and wrong. It's hard to sing a lovely song.

But still there sounds a melody I learned to love at mother's knee. It isn't much—a little lay That's helped me through the darkest day.

The plain, sweet words I oft recall—"My boy, be kind and good to all."
WALTER WARNER.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This at Home

Saves You Much Money, and It's So Easily Mixed.

Here's an old home remedy your mother probably used, but, for real results, it is still one of the most effective and dependable, for coughs due to colds. Once tried, you'll swear by it. It's no trouble. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar in 1 cup water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—a child could do it. Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This makes a full pint of truly splendid cough medicine, and gives you about four times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

And you'll say it's really amazing, for quick action. You can feel it take hold promptly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiac, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

British Engineers Struggle To Keep London Roads Open

Men Work Day And Night To Repair Damage Caused By German Bombing Attacks

By FRANK EGLESTON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Thousands of skilled Army men are now at work repairing the damage to roads, gas, electricity and water mains caused by German bombs.

Totalling 4,000 royal engineers and 10,000 men of the Army Pioneer Corps, these men work seven days a week, and if it is urgent, all through the night; a tarpaulin covering the site to comply with black-out regulations.

As a result roads are repaired in the shortest possible time and service restored as speedily as possible.

Skilled Workers
During an officially conducted tour of the capital, the writer saw those men engaged upon more than fifty jobs. They are skilled and competent enough to undertake any work likely to be involved in the repairing of highways, bridges, and public services.

Most of the men worked together as civilians on similar work—in many cases their officers being their managers or engineers in civil life.

In one main thoroughfare we saw a temporary bridge royal engineers had thrown across a bomb crater to enable work to continue uninterrupted below on vital mains.

In another area where a bomb had damaged a gas main at the junction of two roads, the R. E.'s had by-passed the broken main with another pipe while men below replaced the underground connection.

Major General Taylor, a tall man with a gentle manner and quiet voice, in charge of operations, said: "The work is being done by men who have done nothing else but this work all their lives. The men themselves, who are enjoying the work, are getting on with it magnificently—glad to be doing a proper job of work—the type of work they might have to do if we sent another expeditionary force overseas."

"The pioneers are doing a splendid job and things are going amazingly well," said the general.

President Asks Further Contracts For Cargo Ships

Seeks $65,000,000 Worth Of Contracts To Complete Ship Construction Program

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—President Roosevelt has asked congress to grant the United States maritime commission additional authority to enter into $65,000,000 worth of contracts to complete its program of construction of 200 cargo ships by the end of the fiscal year.

The senate naval affairs committee approved an authorization of $1,209,000,000 as a part of the broad program of naval expansion.

Taking European war developments into consideration, the authorization was approved unanimously. It calls for $300,000,000 for improving anti-aircraft defenses on combat and auxiliary vessels; $315,000,000 for private and government facilities for ship construction; $194,000,000 for equipment for the manufacture of ordnance material; and $400,000,000 for construction of "mosquito boats" and other small patrol boats.

The 200 cargo ships come under the commission's long range program calling for construction of 500 vessels in ten years. This is separate and distinct from the president's projected plan to construct 200 "floating matchbox" cargo ships at a cost of $350,000,000.

The commission has under contract 180 of the 500 vessels of which 92 have been launched.

City Treasurer Is Given Power To Serve Warrants

During council meeting in city hall Monday, colleagues adopted a resolution submitted by Finance Director James L. Fink giving the city treasurer power to serve warrants, executed by the proper officials, for the collection of taxes as levied and assessed for 1941 and that the warrants be attached to tax duplicates.

According to the resolution the treasurer or his deputies can after five days notice seize by levy and dispose of any personal property on the premises assessed.

Plant Expansion Program Given

(Special To The News)
GROVE CITY, Jan. 28.—An expansion program involving an expenditure of not less than $750,000 in Grove City and Mt. Vernon, O., is announced by President C. B. Jahnke, president of the Cooper-Bessemer Corporation. The major portion of the program is designed to increase production for national defense work.

Included in the expansion program is construction of an assembly and test building, and new tools and other facilities to produce Diesel engines for the U. S. Navy and other customers, at the Grove City plant. Production in this line has outgrown plant facilities here.

President Jahnke said that production at the Grove City plant in 1941 will be somewhat larger than last year, when new records were set.

National defense requirements for medium-sized Diesel engines and compressor units have become a large part of the production of the Grove City plant.

Council heard testimony pro and con Monday morning relative to a proposal to change from a residential to a secondary business zone a section of Butler avenue then postponed action on the bill until Thursday. The point involved is as follows: that part of Stanton avenue, which were it cut through, would project to Butler avenue thence run east 510 feet for a depth of one lot on each side of Butler avenue. Opponents of the measure claim a gas station which it is proposed to erect, would depreciate their property, now under construction.

City police have received from Motor police at Williamsport a description of a woman who was found dead at Antes Port, Lycoming county. She was killed by a train and was described as follows: height, 5'6"; age, 50; weight, 150. Two front gold teeth. Apparently married and had had children.

Wore grey tweed coat labelled "Glenbrook". Black dress, brown stockings, black shoes 3AAA quality "Craze". Green hat labelled "Jean Nedra hats of fashion". Had theater ticket which had the word "Gent", probably Regent, according to the police and had number 203445. She talked to a ticket agent there and said she was supposed to meet a brother at Antes Port.

Game Protector Frank L. Coen gave some of the local sportsmen a treat Monday. He had a bunch of rabbits that had been trapped near the powder plant near Edenburg and took them out to state game land in the townships adjoining the Slippery Rock creek.

A lot of rabbits have been trapped this year for release on game land. Thomas O'Brien has trapped 175. Troop 5 of the Boy Scouts under Dan Carroll have trapped a number and about 125 have been trapped near the game farm. Coen is also getting some aid in putting out feed for wild life. In other days a shelter was built and the feed placed under it. Predatory animals soon got the idea and used the shelter for meeting places to mosey a lunch. Now corn is placed on the end of a stick and the stick put out in the open. Small game can get it and at the same time keep a wary eye out for predatory animals.

Secretary Of Rod-Gun Club Resigns Post

Odd H. McCleary Concludes Five Year's Of Splendid Service

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—With much regret the resignation of Odd H. McCleary as secretary of the Ellwood City Rod and Gun Club was received last evening at the regular club meeting held at the new lodge, on the pump road.

Mr. McCleary filled the office for the past five years in a most efficient and satisfactory manner. Mr. McCleary is also a member of the Lawrence County Council and the county delegate to the Northwest Sportsmen's Association. A new secretary to take his place will be appointed by the board of directors.

Kenneth Brenneman, of the Jordan game farm, was the speaker and told of the propagation and distribution of pheasants.

Arrangements for the annual banquet to be held early in March were discussed. William Lowry, president, presided and appointed John Copits as chairman of a vermin contest to begin soon. A report of the recent organization of the casting club was given by John Vogler.

A turkey given by Gorman Pierce was won by William Brenneman.

One hundred members attended the meeting with the next one to be held on Monday, February 10.

To Present Plaque To Baptist Church

Young People's Class Plans Dinner-Program For Presentation Ceremonies

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—In memory of Clinton B. Sankey, members of the Young People's class of the Providence Baptist church will present a bronze plaque to the church on Thursday, April 17, the anniversary of Mr. Sankey's birth.

Arrangements for a program and dinner to be held on that date were made when members of the class assembled in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Fieson, Wiley Hill, Monday evening. Devotions were led last evening by Mrs. John Keul and Mrs. Howard Syphrit.

Committees appointed to take charge of the event include: entertainment, Mrs. Howard Syphrit, Mrs. Clarence Saftred, William Fieson, dinner, Mrs. Keith Hazen, Mrs. John Keul, Mrs. Lester Hazen. Following the business session, an oyster supper was served to the group with Mrs. Lester Hazen aiding the hostess.

Next regular class meeting will be held in February.

SCOUT TROOP
ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—The regular meeting of the Bobolink Troop of Girl Scouts was held last night in the Presbyterian church under the direction of Mrs. Bohlen the captain.

The meeting opened with songs, and then patrol corners were held. The meeting closed with "Taps." Anne Sartinell, scribe.

Mother Of Local Man Dies At Home In New Brighton; Funeral Thursday Morning

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—Mrs. Margaret C. Carey, aged 82, passed away at her home in New Brighton this morning. She was the mother of Thomas Carey of Ellwood City. The body will be taken to the residence, 618 Seventh avenue, New Brighton. Funeral mass will be celebrated Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Joseph's church in New Brighton, and interment will be in St. Joseph's cemetery in that city.

Reviews Feature Club Meeting At Mason Residence

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—Two book reviews featured the meeting of the College Club, held Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Dale Mason, Pittsburgh Circle. Miss Iva Jackson was a guest.

Van Wick Brooks' "New England—Indian Summer" was reviewed in an interesting manner by Mrs. H. S. Gold, after which "For Whom the Bell Tolls" by Ernest Hemingway, was reviewed by Miss Pat Hebling.

An invitation was received from the Business and Professional Women's club to attend a meeting with them at the Baptist church on February 4 to hear an address by Oliver Smalley, British Consul from Pittsburgh.

In serving a delicious luncheon, at the close of the meeting, the hostess was aided by Mrs. Warren Grotz, co-hostess.

Next meeting will be February 24 in the home of Mrs. Walter Baisch, Rolling Hills.

Wurtemberg P. T. A. Enjoys Pictures

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—When members of the Wurtemberg P. T. A. assembled last evening at the Wurtemberg school for the regular meeting, they were entertained by motion pictures of travel scenes of the west and Pacific coast, shown by Dr. J. K. Painter of Ewing Park.

Twenty-five members attended, with routine business being considered, after which an appetizing lunch was served by Mrs. Leonard Hazen, Mrs. C. J. Gibbons, Mrs. Harry Beighley and Mrs. Houk.

Monday, February 24, marks the date of the next meeting.

BETA CHAPTER
ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—A brief meeting of the Beta chapter of the Graduate Sorority was held last evening at the Sixth street club rooms. The matter of disbanding was discussed and ballots will be sent to members to determine whether to continue or not. Betty Lee Kimes was in charge. Monday, February 10, is the date of the next meeting.

DRIVING SCHOOL CLASS WILL OPEN ON FEBRUARY 3

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—Students are enrolling now in the highway safety driving school for the class that will start on Monday, February 3.

Afternoon classes for the course are from 2 to 4 and evening classes are from 7 to 9.

The school enrolled a citizen of Easton, Pa., who is staying with relatives here in Ellwood City so that she might take advantage of the driving school.

Enrollment may be made at the Chamber of Commerce and registration for the February 3 class will end this Saturday.

Will Aid British War Relief Here

Leaders Are Named For Association Formed In Ellwood City

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—Mrs. Thomas Lee and Mrs. Curt Aiken were appointed chairman and co-chairman of the local British War Relief Association formed here in Ellwood City yesterday afternoon.

H. W. Smith was appointed treasurer and the following make-up to the executive board—Mrs. R. C. Stiefel, Mrs. Aaron Caplan, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Clay Stier, Mrs. Wayne Baird, Carl Davidson, Mrs. T. B. Magee, Mrs. Dale Mason, Mrs. Ray Humphrey, Mrs. Robert Balderson, Mrs. Moon, Mrs. Boyer, Mike Edelman.

Headquarters of the association will be an apartment in the rear of the R. C. Stiefel residence on Fountain avenue and Circle avenue.

The headquarters are being renovated at the present time and will be ready for occupancy by February third.

Mrs. Robert Balderson, Mrs. Aaron Caplan and Mrs. Ray Humphrey were appointed as a special committee to oversee the furnishing of the headquarters.

The immediate goal of the association is to purchase a mobile unit to be sent to Great Britain for work in the devastated areas. These mobile units are supply kitchens that carry food and clothing to stricken areas.

Special fund raising committees and sewing projects committees will be appointed at a later date by the chairman and co-chairman.

Ellwood citizens who wish to donate to this worthy cause are asked to make their checks out to the British War Relief Society and mail them to Mrs. H. W. Smith of 106 Second street.

Rebekah Lodge Has Card Party

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—A most successful card and bingo party was held last evening by the Rebekah Lodge at the bank hall with ninety members and guests participating.

Awards went to Mrs. N. J. Gordon, Mrs. Esther Bloom, Gerald Mook and W. B. Kay, for 500; and Mrs. Paul Trelka, Mrs. John Shure and Lawrence Rabberman, for bingo; the door prize to Walter Blainford and a cake to Mrs. Earl Duncan.

A brief meeting was held by the lodge with 35 attending and the president, Mrs. Merna Badger, in charge.

As the final feature, tempting refreshments were served by Mrs. Lawrence Rabberman and her committee.

Monday, February 10, is the date of the next meeting.

Lutheran Board Members Gather

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—"How to Teach the Lesson" was the theme of an interesting discussion held last evening by the Sunday school board of the Trinity Lutheran church. Mrs. Bessie Guldbrandsen presented the subject with a discussion period following.

Chester Caldwell conducted the meeting attended by thirty members. Leaders for several months in advance were appointed and it was decided to have various classes conduct the devotionals on the last Sunday of every month.

Monday, February 24, marks the date of the next meeting.

MRS. WALTER GAMBLE IS GUEST OF CLUB

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—At the home of Mrs. Bessie Phelps, of Fifth street, members of the Monday club were agreeably entertained last evening. Mrs. Walter Gamble was a special guest.

Bridge held the attention of the guests with the top honor going to Mrs. Ferd Zeigler. Mrs. Gamble aided in serving a dainty lunch.

Girl Scout Leaders Entertained Monday

Activities For Troops Explained By Council At Groden Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—Seventeen Girl Scout leaders were agreeably entertained last evening at the home of Girl Scout commissioner, Mrs. Max Groden, of Pittsburgh Circle.

Mrs. John Hough explained the new registration plan to the leaders. Mrs. Frances Tomasson will be the official recorder and Mrs. J. A. Pearson will be the merit badge recorder.

Mrs. Max Groden explained the cookie sale to be held the first week of February with the proceeds to be used for the leadership training and camping programs. The five girls who sell the most cookies will be given prizes of one dollar.

Troops will secure their cookies as follows: 1 and 9 at the home of Mrs. Thomas Magee, Spring avenue; 2 and 4, city building; 3 and 5, Mrs. J. D. Sartwell, Fourth street; 7 and 8, Ewing Park school, Saturday, 9 to 11 a. m., and Mrs. C. J. Kingston, 436 Orchard avenue.

Miss Lorraine McLaughlin, Miss Jean Stroebecker and Mrs. James Bloom were introduced they will teach clay, leather and woodcraft to the troop leaders during the coming months. The classes will begin in February.

The hostess was assisted in serving a refreshing lunch by Mrs. Paul Reynolds, Mrs. Charles Adams and Mrs. Paul Cartwright, of the council.

Bus Company Asks Route Extensions

Make Applications For Lines To Frisco, North Sewickley, Beaver Falls

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—The Ellwood City Motor Coach company, operated by J. Nelson Runyan and John E. Runyan, of this city, will be given a hearing before the state commission representative for the application of route extensions on Thursday morning, January 30, at 10 o'clock at the City building.

The first petition will be the right to digress from points on the applicants' proposed routes to churches, schools, athletic fields, parks and other places of interest, approximately one-half mile from the said route when necessary to transport persons on special occasions.

The second petition will be application for the right of operating buses between Ellwood City and Beaver Falls, over a route beginning at Ninth street, over old Route 88 ("Brighton" road), to be intersection at East Vale, thence to Beaver Falls.

The third petition will be for approval of operating buses between Ellwood City and the intersection of Route 288 on an unnumbered Pinchot road in North Sewickley. The route would go to North Star school, thence to Miller's store, at North Sewickley.

Class Guests At Welling Residence

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—Mrs. J. N. Welling of Crescent avenue, extended hospitality to members of the Altruistic Class of the Methodist church on Monday evening, when she entertained in her home, at their monthly event.

Thirteen participated, and the religious period was in charge of Mrs. Catherine Rutter. Plans were made for a tureen dinner, to be held on Wednesday, February 12, in the church dining room. Other activities were also considered during the business hour.

Games were later enjoyed, awards going to Mrs. Virginia Hall, Miss Martha Hayden and Mrs. Mary McKim. Tapering off the informal program, the hostess served a delicious repast.

On Monday, February 24, the group will meet with Mrs. Virginia Hall, Haig street, Ewing Park.

Skating Party For Legion Sons

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—The Sons of Legion had a merry skating party yesterday afternoon and re-assembled last evening at the Sixth street hall for a regular meeting.

After the meeting, the group went to the Shelby clubhouse to see motion pictures being shown to the Foreman's club. Counsellors attending were W. P. Simson, Ralph Little and Bob Evans.

On Friday evening, February 7, the boys will join the Junior auxiliary for a Valentine party.

LIONS ARRANGE CLUB PROGRAMS

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—Members of the Lions club gathered last night in the Elks club, for the weekly dinner meeting. The matter of future programs was discussed and it was decided to have each member arrange a program either by talking himself or providing a guest speaker.

Another meeting will be held next Monday night.

Foremen Hear National Head

A. C. Horrocks, Of Akron, O., Makes Address At Dinner Meeting

U. S. COOPERATION STRONGLY STRESSED

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—"Cooperation is the theme song of America," A. C. Horrocks, of Akron, O., president of the National Association of Foreman's clubs, told members of the Ellwood City Foreman's club at a dinner meeting last evening at the Shelby club house. Joined by members of various civic clubs and heads of other industries of the community, the worthwhile and informative event was attended by about two hundred members and guests.

In the opening part of his address, the speaker said that he was hardly able to believe that United States has been awakened to the need of national defense. United States is preparing for war and preparing to stop the depression that might follow, and he illustrated that point with a description of the food stamp plan for surplus commodities.

United States controls 80 per cent of the world's gold, has 72 per cent of the world's automobiles and 52 per cent of the telephones.

Manufacturing is increasing every day because of the growing orders following the bombing of English and German manufacturing plants. Yet United States will still get ready for war in 18 months while it took Hitler seven years to prepare. American leaders are trustworthy and patriotic and hold the last hope of civilization in their hands, he declared.

Americans are the champions of freedom of speech, religion and the pursuit of happiness and instead of the old axiom, "Silence is Golden", has adopted a new slogan, "Tell The World".

Men of supervision are reaching out and becoming engineers because of the ever increasing expansion of manufacturing lines and men who have failed to reach out, help and understand their fellow men, "have missed the boat".

Christianity is given the credit for the betterment of human beings because it always causes men to become discontent with conditions and to try and better them. American people don't know what sacrifice is, unless they journey back 300 years, and it is the duty of every American to cooperate in maintaining their freedom.

Mr. Horrocks devoted a large part of his talk to the thought of personal contact between foremen and their men. A foreman must be a salesman who can follow eight points, attention, interest, desire, decision, action, sell, satisfaction, confidence. Foreman are chosen for their ability in three things, craftsmanship, judgment, and skill in handling men.

Formerly, the foreman did the hiring, firing and settling of grievances, but today this is all taken care of by individual experts.

In the procedure of establishing personal contact, three methods are followed. They are a friendly greeting, interest in the employee's family and home and stepping down to the employee's level. If the "American people find a leader, they will follow him to the finish and "you, as an employer might as well have this loyalty as some one else", he declared.

William Knudsen was cited as the chief example of personal contact because he has never hesitated in giving part of his busy time to personal contacts. "The signal is on and the switch is in your hand and if you follow these rules you will never have any labor trouble," the forceful speaker concluded.

The speaker was presented by E. R. Downing and S. E. Elder presided during the program in the absence of president H. E. King, who is ill at his home, in Ewing Park.

Entertainment for the evening featured two excellent motion pictures, "Winning Baseball", prepared by the National League and "Football High-Lights of 1940".

Women of the Trinity Lutheran church served a delectable turkey dinner as the initial feature and dinner music was provided by Conner's orchestra.

MRS. C. B. KINGSTON AUXILIARY HOSTESS

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 28.—With Mrs. C. B. Kingston as hostess, a regular meeting of the Foreman's Auxiliary was held last evening in the Sixth street station.

Bingo was the pleasant diversion, with the honors going to Mrs. Robert Henry, Mrs. Kingston and Mrs. Lester Anderson. A card party was planned for Monday night.

After the hostess served a refreshing lunch, members departed to meet again on Monday, February 10.

Will Reveal How Germany Blots Out Bessemer Converters

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 28.—One of the deepest secrets of Nazi Germany's steel industry—how they "black out" Bessemer converters so that their glaring flames cannot be used as guide beacons by enemy airmen—will be disclosed to the American Iron and Steel Institute next week, it was learned here today.

A Carnegie Tech professor, Willibald Trinks, discovered the secret while on a visit to Germany in 1939. He said he would divulge the method to the Iron and Steel Institute as a patriotic duty so that the nation's steel makers could use it if the necessity should arise.

On his visit, Trinks explained, he had access to practically any German steel mill through a reciprocal agreement with the university people in the United States and Germany. He added:

"The Nazis were moving tanks and guns around at night and the whole country was ordered 'black out'."

"That's when I first learned they had 'black out' steel mills. There's no trick to shield the blast furnace or any other furnace operation inside a steel mill, but the converters, that's different."

"In fact, it's so different that the Germans have discovered something else in connection with it and that's the interesting part."

"In addition to hooding the converter, making it absolutely light-proof so that it cannot be discovered from above, it also saves all the material which we now discharge into the air when the furnace is blowing."

The Carnegie Tech professor explained that in the present process, the molten steel is atomized by the blast of air forced into the bottom of the furnace and approximately 10 per cent of the steel and all of the valuable vanadium in some ores is lost. The secret German process saves all of this and now is the source of most of Germany's vanadium, he said.

Trinks said it was not likely the secret would be used merely for the saving in steel manufacture alone because it would call for complete reconstruction of the nation's steel furnaces, a costly task. He added:

"After I've turned it over to the Iron and Steel Institute, I shall be glad to help anybody build one of the German furnaces that might want me to build one. I want to do everything I can to help this country."

Trinks was born in Germany 66 years ago and has been a resident of this country since 1899. He made the trip to Germany in 1939 to "eat up" part of an estate that was left to him by a distant relative and which he figured he could not remove from that country because of its regulations.

Predatory Game Control Methods Being Studied

Special Committee Named By State Game Commission To Suggest Control Methods

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 28.—Study of methods to control predatory game in Pennsylvania has been undertaken under joint state and federal auspices.

Members of the special predator control study committee named by the state game commission discussed plans with Dr. R. L. Gabrielson, chief of the U. S. fish and wildlife service.

Officers of the committee, first of its kind ever appointed in the commonwealth and perhaps east of the Rockies, are Dr. R. L. Watts, dean of school of agriculture, Pennsylvania State college, chairman; Dr. Arthur Henn, curator of ichthyology of the Carnegie museum, Pittsburgh, and state president of the Isaac Walton League of America as vice-chairman; and Charles H. Neff, sports writer, Allentown.

The committee plans to study predators in the state and to suggest means of controlling them.

"Some of the things we want to find out now," Ross L. Leffler, president of the commission, explained, "are the answers to such questions as: Is the bounty system now in vogue in Pennsylvania still desirable and effective or should bounties be eliminated entirely? Should certain birds and animals now on the bounty list be eliminated? Should others be added? Should present bounty rates be changed? Would some other plan or program serve equally well or better?"

"In other words, the hope of escape from taxes is largely responsible for whatever popular appeal centralized control may have had or will have in the future."

"This is true largely for the reason that local taxpayers sometimes fail to understand that when they surrender their control of local taxation they surrender also to a very large degree control of local expenditures, and place these in the hands of state officials unfamiliar and often unsympathetic with local needs. Vast powers for evil exist in centralization. These in my opinion greatly over-balance any promised, but never realized, benefit in the way of lowered local taxes."

"For the protection of our liberties I am firmly convinced that we must keep the larger share of tax levies for local purposes in the hands of officials responsible under our local elective system directly to the taxpayers themselves."

"In other words, as the sources of tax revenues are more and more hidden by remote control, the less regardful local citizens and local government would be of public expenditure—the result being more and more extravagances paid for by the surrender of more and more of our liberties. This is not mere theory. Its truth is exemplified throughout recorded history and is emphasized by what has recently happened in Europe and especially in Germany."

"I reach the conclusion, therefore, that the best way to protect and improve local government is for the agencies of local government to keep their expenditures well within the reasonable ability of the public to pay."

"Throughout Pennsylvania where this principle has been observed we have at once found local government and an absence of the hue and cry for local tax relief by state subsidy, which is the invariable demand of those ready to surrender the privilege and responsibilities of local government for enlarged state control in return for temporary financial relief."

"The processes of democracy are necessarily slow. But in a large measure they are sound. The need of the moment is for patient perseverance more than for precipitate action."

GOERING EMPLOYS 600,000

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Jan. 28.—The Hermann Goering works, the arms plant founded by the Reichsmarshal now employs 600,000 workers and is the biggest armament concern in Germany. Manufacturing all kinds of steel products, the Goering foundation has been recently reorganized into mining corporations, shipping companies and arms factories.

AMBULANCE BUSES

(International News Service)
STOCKHOLM, Jan. 28.—Stockholm has six ambulance buses, which are converted from ordinary municipal passenger buses. These have been added to the large fleet of ambulances operated by the national defense, the Swedish Red Cross, the public and private hospitals and the fire department.

It is still possible to make old cemeteries beautiful. We could plant enough evergreens to hide the monuments.

Alliance Means 'World Cop' Our Role, Rotarians Told

Realizing that America now faces "grave perils," the future peace and well-being, "the whole issue now appears to be not so much whether we will or will not render a little more or a little less assistance to Britain, but rather a question whether, before it's too late, we can and will take the measures necessary to prevent a war, in which to date we have not had to fight, from developing into a new and greater war in which we will have to fight," Attorney William J. Caldwell told New Castle Rotarians at their weekly Monday luncheon in The Casino.

National Defense Topic

He spoke on "Some Aspects of National Defense."

"There has been all too generally held," Caldwell in part, asserted, in many quarters the belief that even if Britain were defeated, which is a consummation that even these persons would hate to see, that nevertheless such a defeat would bring an end to the war and result in a general peace. This assumption is a dangerous one. It is all too apt to prove the last great illusion. The truth now more than ever certainly seems to be that the defeat of Britain would be like the breaking of a dam that would release the torrent of war into all the oceans and into all the remaining continents. This dam now restrains the war to Northern Europe, to the Eastern Mediterranean and to China. In that sense it is still for us a localized and limited war.

"But the dam that restrains it is a great fortified line. It is composed of warships, airplanes, British, Greek and allied land forces, the Chinese armies, and the British, Dutch and American power in the Pacific. If the line is broken at any vital point the forces of the allied aggressor states would pour through the breach. There would be nothing to stop them at the point of the break-through or at any other point in the system of defense except the soil of the United States and possibly that of the British colonial possessions.

essions. The roads to India, to South America and to Australia would be wide open. For with the forces we have the best we could possibly hope to do would be to hold Hawaii and Panama. Even that would be a desperate task because we would face a victorious and powerful alliance in both oceans."

Make Sure Dam Holds

Paramount to the American nation in 1941, he said, is the question of "how to use all the resources it now possesses to make certain this line, this dam holds fast through the year."

Attorney Caldwell spoke of the thundering debate whipping up over President Roosevelt's lend-lease bill. He stressed over and over that he stands for aid to Britain, but vigorously opposes a "definite alliance" or a "teaming up" as Clarence Streit and his "Union Now" supporters advocate.

Then, turning directly to four disadvantages in immediate outright alliance, Attorney Caldwell told Rotarians:

World Policeman? No!

"First, such a policy (outright alliance) would commit us to the role of world policeman, with the possibility that we might from time to time have to engage in fighting battles in which we had no possible personal interest, or advantage. Great concentrations of power tend to raise great combinations against them and such an alliance might possibly result in a European-Asian alliance against it. The world has always been run on the balance of power system."

"Second, an alliance with England would make us party to a policy looking to the continual fragmentation of Europe and Asia. England could still be menaced from the European continent and Australia and New Zealand could always be menaced by a hostile Asia. In either event our immediate aid would be required."

"Third, the United States proper is at present a compact easily defended nation. With the establishment of outlying bases already contemplated and involved in the destroyer deal, the establishment of enemy bases within an easily effective range can be prevented. At present the United States could fight if it chose largely on interior lines. The strategic disadvantages of teaming up with Britain would be obvious as the British Empire can be menaced almost anywhere throughout the globe.

Sea-power Decisive?

"And fourth, the United States and Britain possess one-half the world's sea-power and much more than one-half the power that is able to operate far from home bases. But it may be that sea-power is less decisive than it has generally been thought. In the first World War Germany was not defeated by sea-power. At least it was certainly not defeated until the United States put an army into France. It might take millions of men to blast Japan out of China, and Americans may well question the ultimate cost in men and materials involved to the United States in any out-right alliance that would commit this country to a joint defense of the British Empire. In the last analysis, it is difficult to see how any effective outright alliance could be formed that did not commit us to burdens entirely disproportionate to any benefits we could possibly derive."

BARBARA BENNETT WILL SEEK DIVORCE, RECONCILIATION FAILS

(International News Service) HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27.—Attorneys for Barbara Bennett, one-time film actress and member of the famous theatrical family, and Morton Downey, noted singer, announced Monday the couple had reached a property and child custody agreement.

Downey flew to Hollywood from New Orleans in an attempt to dissuade his wife from her announced intention of prosecuting a separate maintenance suit, but friends said Miss Bennett was determined to pursue the action because of Downey's long absences from home on tours. The Downeys have five children.

District Convention A. Z. A. Held Here

Ted Marlin Elected President Of Western Pennsylvania For Next Term

Ted Marlin, who has been active in A. Z. A. Junior B'nai B'rith, work for several years was honored at the district convention held in this city, January 25, when he was named to the presidency for the ensuing year.

About 100 Jewish youth from Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia assembled in New Castle over the week end for the annual Winter Tournament and election of officers.

Saturday evening the boys were entertained in a social manner at houseparties throughout the city and Sunday proceeded with the business part of the program.

The preliminary debates began in Temple Israel at 8:30 a. m. and ended with Melvin Krall and David Barr of Aliquippa defeating Allen Amber and Harry Wechsler, of McKeesport, and will represent the Council in the March finals at Philadelphia.

Basketball tournament took place in the Arena during the afternoon with the Bradnock chapter defeating the Altoona chapter by a score of 26 to 18.

Irv. Cantor of Pittsburgh presided at the business session in Temple Israel at which time routine matters were taken up and officers named for the coming term. Ted Marlin, of this city, who has taken an active part in the affairs of the organization for several years, was named president; Bill Keller, of McKeesport, will serve as vice president; Morton Love, also an active member of the local chapter, was named secretary; Bernard Rogoff, Aliquippa, treasurer; Irv. Cantor, Pittsburgh, chaplain; Julius Bernstein, Butler, reporter; Ted Raab, Sharon.

At 6:30 the group assembled at Tifereth Israel, where the Tifereth Israel Sisterhood served a most delicious banquet. Ted Marlin, general chairman of arrangements, presented David Lerner, who acted as toastmaster. Orators who spoke at the time included Irv. Cantor, Pittsburgh; Gerald Kline, Canonsburg, who won the oratory contests; Richard London, Huntingdon, W. Va.; and Harold Zaritsky, Butler.

Medals were presented to the winners of all contests by Saul Dizenfeld, member of the Supreme Advisory Council. Other speakers included Mrs. A. H. Gornick and Sam Schwartz for the local Advisory board, and Howard Love, president elect of the local chapter.

Rabbi Norman Diamond gave the invocation and benediction and paid a beautiful tribute to Jerry Safar, a Chicago member of A. Z. A. who died a short time ago after spending several months in an iron lung.

The evening concluded with a dance for the visitors.

The committee assisting Ted Marlin in making the affair a most decided success included Irwin Rosen, Morton Love, Norman Shapiro, Edw. Levine, Howard Love and Sheldon Slovinsky.

The officers of the local chapter of A. Z. A. are Howard Love, president; Sheldon Slovinsky, vice president; Morton Love, secretary; Norman Shapiro, treasurer; Ted Marlin, chaplain; Sherman Kaplan, reporter and Bob Abraham and G. Solomon, sergeants at arms.

Make Survey Of Nurse Strength In Pennsylvania

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Jan. 28.—The Pennsylvania State Nurses' association has begun an immediate survey of the nurse strength of Pennsylvania. Questionnaires went out to approximately 50,000 registered nurses living in Pennsylvania to learn if they are active or inactive, what kind of nursing service they are prepared to render and if they will be available for service if needed on either a full or part-time basis.

Answering the form does not imply compulsory military service but indicates that the nursing organization is mobilized to meet the emergency and that Pennsylvania nurses are ready to meet nursing needs.

Many Pennsylvania nurses have been called to active service and it is estimated that from 300 to 1,000 more will be needed by March 1 for service at Indiantown Gap and Camp Meade, Md.

The national defense program includes a national inventory of the nurse strength of the country. More than 6,500 nurses will be in active service in the army and other government services by the end of this year, and at least 10,000 other nurses will be needed to take care of the civilian population of the country.

Three Hurt In Collision Near Wilmington Jct

During the storm of yesterday which caused slippery highways three persons were injured in what virtually was described by State Motor police as a head-on collision on Route 956 near New Wilmington junction.

The injured: C. W. Means, R. D. 5; injuries to left hip and face. Harry Means, R. D. 5, occupant of C. W. Means' car; injuries to right knee and forehead. Earl Parker, 312 Linden street, Scranton; puncture below right knee.

The motor cars were operating in opposite directions when the accident occurred. The injured were attend by a physician.

More Foresters Needed In State

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—Officials of the Pennsylvania Forestry association are pressing demands that the state department of forests and water hire additional foresters to handle the commonwealth's vastly increased woodlands.

In 1916 the department had 1,000,000 acres of state forests under its jurisdiction and employed 70 foresters," asserted H. Gleason Mattoon, forestry association secretary. "Today, the acreage is 50 per cent greater, with over 80 recreational areas, while the foresters employed number only 43."

"In the 24 years since 1916," continued Mattoon, "not only have 650,000 additional acres been added to the state forests, but the timber stand, because of protection, has reached such proportions that these areas now may well be called forests."

The association official pointed out that many foresters are eager to obtain work under the department, and that a process of selective cutting of neglected forests could be started with the additional help. Trees thus selected for cutting, he said, could be sold on a competitive basis to lumbermen.

Mrs. Marie Biddle, Erie street, on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Prazler of Dravosburg, Pa. were recent visitors at the home of Mrs. List of Jackson street.

Mrs. Harry Filby has returned home from the Jameson hospital where she was receiving treatment for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lease of Baden were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schrock of the North Side.

Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson of New Castle were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gibson of the Edenburg-Hillsville road recently.

ROY A. LONG IS GIVEN STATE JOB

COASTING VICTIM IS LITTLE IMPROVED

It was stated today that the condition of George Magee, of Harbor street, who suffered serious internal injuries in a coasting accident near his home January 13, is still in a serious condition.

The youth underwent an operation in which his spleen was removed, after the accident. He had only a fair night, last night, the hospital reports.

Ellwood Here Tonight For Loop Battle

Bucci, Adamo And Walls Will Play Final Game For New Castle Tonight

RESERVE TEAMS IN FIRST GAME

New Castle High School basketball team will play Ellwood City high at the George Washington High gym floor, tonight, in a Section Three tussle. The reserve teams of both schools will play the preliminary at 7 o'clock.

Victors in only one out of four games played the Ellwoods will try hard tonight for their second league win. Ellwood, denied a victory to date in four league starts, will strive hard also to shake-off the jinx. The game will no doubt be hard fought.

New Castle Loses Three Men

Three of the varsity boys will put on the red and black uniforms for the last time. Al Bucci, Ernie Adamo and Lindale Walls, the latter a colored boy and a fine forward, Bucci has been used at center and guard, and Adamo has been used as a forward and guard. Their going will leave three big holes to be filled.

Just what kind of a lineup Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will start is not known, but Walls and Lee or Thomas may get the starting forward jobs, with Cooper at center, and Christopher and Tomalio at Adamo at the guards. Bucci, Zubrowsky, Ross and Parou are the first string subs that will be held available.

Coach Gerry Newton will bring a team here tonight that has had hard luck all season. The tallied 36 points in the recent Aliquippa game only to lose it. If they play the same kind of a game here tonight that they did last Friday they will cause the New Castle tossers a lot of trouble.

Sharpsville Tops Washington Five

The George Washington Junior High basketball team journeyed to Sharpsville Monday afternoon and were defeated 27 to 20 in a well played engagement. The Mercer contained led at the half 18 to 9.

Jamison, Lewis and Preston did the bulk of the scoring for the North Hill team, with Campbell and Gill the Sharpsville scoring aces.

THE WINTER CO.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Fortified with a Dempsey weave, and a left hook, either to the body or chin, which Red Burman believes will be his best offense, he is reported as ready to "gamble" with Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, Friday night in New York. According to reports trekking in from New York, Burman will find another gambler in Louis. In an interview with Pat Robinson, the N. Y. S. sports writer, Joe recalled some of his gambles. He recalled the Fat boy, Galento, and Max Schmeling. Both passed out of the gambler's category. Joe recalled how Paulino stayed behind his elbows. Tommy Farr and the Chilean Arturo Godoy with their weaving styles gave him trouble. Burman is tough and for lack of fights has been forced to do without the returns he would like to have derived from action, for his family. Hence fans can look forward to him trying his utmost to win.

Oscar Vitt has changed his mind about doing an "Expose" of the Indians uprising, according to Eddie Briez. Paul Berlenbach, famous body puncher of 11 years ago, is headquartering in Chicago where he would like to find a good body puncher among pugilistic prospects. In his fourth fight as a pro, Berlenbach stopped Battling Siki, was managed by Bob Levy, who handled Phil Tobias in the Jolly bowl. He won the light-heavyweight championship from Mike McGuire in 15 rounds in 1925 and dropped it to Jack Delaney in Brooklyn two years later.

Joey Simms, amateur boxer of Youngstown, proposes to invade the pro ranks. Tramp's hands, burned in an industrial accident, are healed. He is undecided about continuing in the punching business. Canfield will have two weeks of harness horse racing this summer. Bob Osterman, John Gubanich, Henry Schenker, Jim McGilgick and Bob Sullivan, five Notre Dame griders have been ordered to report next June for one year's military service.

Gregory Rice, ex-Notre Dame middle distance runner and holder of the two mile indoor record will run in the Penn A.C. two mile event at Philadelphia, February 7. Luigi Becali of Italy, 1932 metric mile title will run in the mile event. Willie Hoppe, the billiard star, collapsed. His fever was 106. However, Hoppe is alright again.

Over 3,800 team entries poured into the offices of the American Bowling Congress of Milwaukee the past few days for the annual tournament which is to be staged in St. Paul, March 13 to May 5. This huge pile of entries represented teams who had fulfilled their reservation obligations. Entries for the tournament will be received and accepted until February 1. It is expected that for the first time in history the fair will have 5,000 entries. The 1940 classic at Detroit drew 6,073 teams while the Chicago tournament of 1938 saw only 4,975 teams, no A.B.C. tournament having been in the 5,000 class.

The Freddy Lenn-Lou Pitts bout carded for Pittsburgh last night was postponed because of bad weather, until Wednesday night. Champion Alice Marble will play Mary Hardwick of England and Champion Don Budge will engage Bill Tilden in tennis in The Gardens, Pittsburgh, tonight.

Max Schmeling, now a German parachute trooper, sat in on the Berlin fight between Walter Neusel and Adolf Heuser which Heuser won. Schmeling would like to box for the European heavyweight championship. When he was introduced Max stepped into the ring, clicked his heels in Prussian fashion then snapped out a Nazi salute.

An injury to his foot has caused former Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers to cancel a bout with Eddie Connolly at Barre, Vt., January 30. Lou Nova is again in a hospital with a severe cold, infected tonsil and a 1-2-degree temperature. He is ill in Madison, Wis.

Winners yesterday in the world's three-cushion billiard tourney at Chicago follows: Joe Chamaco over Len Kenny, 50-25 in 55 innings; Allen Hall over Tiff Denton, 50-29, in 40 innings; Art Rubin over Joe Moriarty, 50-40, in 55 innings.

PHILIP RESERVES WIN SS. Philip and James Reserves defeated the Hanna cagers, 44-15 recently. Miles and Szczloski featured for the winners while Golis and Cwynar starred for the losing quintet.

Two Section 20 Battles Tonight

Flu Epidemic Causes Moguls To Revise Tonight's Schedule

That old flu bugaboo is still prevalent in Section 20 circles. Consequently, tonight's card has been revised. New Wilmington High's flu stricken squad will remain on the sidelines again. The "Greyhounds" were billed to meet Wampum High on Shelby floor, Ellwood City. The game was postponed this morning.

Shenango Township High will battle the Wampum five in the Ellwood City hall. This clash was originally booked for January 14 but was canceled.

On Union floor, East Brook's surprise outfit will swish nets with Union Township. Firmly entrenched in second place, the Brookers will seek to strengthen their grip by tumbling the Scottish Lane five.

Mt. Jackson's clash with Bessemer on Mt. Jackson floor completes a star studded card. Bessemer, following a shaky start, found his bearings and rang the victory bell three times. Mt. Jackson already owns a triumph over the Cementers.

Washingtons Down Aliquippa Quintet

The Booker T. Washington basketball team defeated the Aliquippa Grays last night at the Arena floor 43 to 30, with Clark the big star of the battle. Menkerson and Frankie Hillman led the visitors in tallying.

Falcons-Factors To Play Tonight

The Polish Falcons will play the fast Akron Spots tonight at the Falcon Hall in the main game and in the preliminary at 7:30 o'clock, the Factor Variety lasses will play the Sharon Bulb Club girls championship team.

The Sharon girls have been undefeated in three years. The locals hope to snap their long winning streak. Manager Joe Factor will have his strongest possible lineup on the floor for the battle.

The Falcons will be minus the services of their star guard Marion "Muzzy" Sniezek who has an injured wrist. The Akron team is led by Billy Rett leading scorer in the class A league at the Rubber City.

Thursday the Butler Cubs will play here and on next Sunday the Gersons and Falcons clash.

American League Gets A. A. Stars

Last year's most valuable players in three AA leagues will play in American league training ballwicks this spring.

The Boston Red Sox have Mike Ryba, pitcher, acquired from Rochester of the International.

The New York Yankees have Phil Rizzuto, of Kansas City in the American Association league, and Washington drafted George Archie, first baseman, from Seattle of the Pacific Coast league.

Sir Gallahad III, thoroughbred stallion imported by a syndicate of American breeders, has been champion sire in the United States four times in the last 10 years. He was champion sire in 1930, 1933, 1934 and 1940.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Notes concocted while trudging along the treacherous avenues:

Three flashy athletes flout New Castle High's colors for the last time tonight. The trio includes Al Bucci, the lanky glue-fingered end who was named on the 1940 all-state scholastic gridiron aggregation and a better than average cager; Ernie Adamo, a tiger in pigskin raiment, in addition to being a standout courtster, and Lindale Walls who owns basketball omph. The boys say "30" to scholastic competition against Ellwood City High here.

Along cauliflower lane, Russ Baxter has planned together one of the most enviable amateur records in the district. The cool blond 150-pound scrapper, whose face is just commencing to feel the touch of a razor, has emerged from the ring on the winning end 22 out of 23 times. Those more informed addicts of the game predict a rosy future for the quiet lad. In addition to his boxing career, Russ is a New Castle High student. He'll receive his sheepskin this June, according to Tommy Leach.

If hard work, patience, clean living and careful analysis of the game help to pave the way to fistic success, Baxter can't miss. The tall athlete has that ever important factor—youth. As a listener, Russ is second to no one. Unlike many members of the fight colony, Baxter doesn't loathe gymnasium activities. He lacks ring experience, true. This comes gradually. Add a fight-

McCarthy Confident Yanks Will Be Back In Thick Of Fight

(International News Service) HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 28.—Manager Joe McCarthy was of the opinion today that his New York Yankees are on their way to another league championship—the sixth during his reign.

Marse Joe gave his opinion last night at a dinner of 500 Connecticut sports writers honoring George Weiss, secretary of the Yankees; Louis (Kid) Kaplan, former featherweight champion, and Robert D. Pryde, secretary of the Connecticut Golf Association.

"We have some splendid material coming up and I am sure we will get the replacement we need to make us stronger than last year," said McCarthy.

Rigney-Bonura Get Draft Calls

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Uncle Sam waved a beckoning finger at two Chicago major league baseball players today—Pitcher Johnny Rigney of the White Sox and First Baseman Zeke Bonura of the Cubs. Rigney, one of the mainstays of the Sox mound staff, revealed he has received his draft questionnaire, indicating he may expect early attention from draft officials, and Bonura, disclosed in New Orleans that in all probability he is to be moved into class A—among prospective draftees. Zeke said all that remained for him to be placed at the top of the list was his okay by physical examiners, and he anticipated no hitch on that score.

SHORT SPORTS

Mahanoy City high has registered its 45th basketball victory under tutelage of Johnny Goepfert, who started there 22 years ago. Despite 111 losses in that time, his teams enjoy an enviable record in scholastic circles. Goepfert's only state championship came in 1922, although it copped the Pa. school title in 1939 and 40, York high's swimming squad has no pool of its own and must train at the local YMCA.

The Cardinals will take 20 pitchers to their spring training ballwicks. Of this number, 15 of the peggers toiled in the minor loops in 1940. Vince DiMaggio isn't the easy touch he used to be when he trots to the plate. In 1938 the Pittsburgh outfielder busted a mark by whiffing 134 times. He was with the Bees then. Last year, Vince played in 112 games, fanning 83 times, a decrease of about two-tenths of a strikeout a game over his 38 mark.

Wesley Ferrell, who soon will reach the 33-year mark, is reportedly planning a comeback—provided one of the major league outfits will make an offer. Coast scribes insist that Joe DiMaggio will soon start yelping for $40,000. . . . What would happen to the Cleveland Indians if Uncle Sam should grab Bobby Feller sooner than most persons anticipated? It's merely an idle thought.

Red Burman, who faces Joe Louis this coming fish day, will be the first Irishman to swing leather at the champ since June 22, 1937, when the Detroit bomber won the crown from Jimmy Braddock. Billy Conn has purchased an airplane. This caused Frank Ward to quip: "Maybe he'll bomb Louis."

Around New York, you can name your own ticket if you are silly enough to think that Burman will kayo Louis.

Chuck Fenske and Walter Mehli, millers have been pals for years. They were room mates and team mates at the University of Wisconsin. They are both running now for the N. Y. A. of Wisconsin, and recently, competing in a cross country run, finished in a dead heat.

Head football and basketball coach at Rimersburg-Madison Joint High school in Rimersburg for the past several years, B. A. Kribbs, has resigned his position to accept a coaching job at Youngsville high.

In 20 years George Halas has missed just one game of the Chicago Bears, of which he is coach and part owner. He was having an operation when the Bears played the All-Stars on the coast.

Nipsickle, Tripped, Balda, Mirrored and Tripod are the names selected by Joseph E. Widener for his 1941 two-year-olds sired by his noted sire, Sickle.

EAST LANSING — Chet Apuchon, Michigan State basket ball star forced out of school by illness, has recovered and is working in a Gary, Ind., factory.

PHILADELPHIA — Rufe Melton, rookie hurler, who stands 6 feet 5 inches, is the tallest pitcher the Phillies have had since Eppa Jephtha Rixey.

The sons and daughters of Good Goods reach racing age this year. This horse raced four seasons and won several outstanding races.

One of the great thoroughbred mares of all time is Marguerite. This mare has produced Gallant Fox, Patee-Wrack and Fighting Fox.

Barry Wood, the radio singer, is a former Yale swimming and water polo star. His name then was Louis Rappaport.

Golf Kibitzers Are Ruled Out

Golfers who patronize Griffith Park courses, Los Angeles, won't have to worry about those pests of the links—kibitzers! City council recently passed an ordinance barring wives, sweethearts or friends who trail along with golfers—unless they pay regular green fees.

The commission passed the ordinance when it was informed that many players' game and disposition had been interfered with by kibitzers!

Horne Loses In Cleveland Fight

Sonny, Who Boxes Here February 10, Loses In Semi-Final

Sonny Horne, Niles Police A. C. of Niles, last night was decisively by Bobby Richardson of the Rudolph A. C. of Cleveland in the three-round semi-final of the Plain Dealer Golden Gloves tournament at Cleveland. Richardson will fight Johnny Lawyer, Clark A. C. of Cleveland, present 147 pound P. D. G. G. champion, Friday.

In the open division of the heavyweight division, Steve Ignath of Youngstown, who won here last week, was decisively eliminated by Allen Aubrey, Avon A. C. Cleveland.

Horne is scheduled to appear here in the show to be staged for the prevention of infantile paralysis, February 10. He was docked here January 20 but contracted the influenza. His brother Roland, a fast youngster, who won his first fight here, will also be on the card as will Russell Baxter and other local boxers.

A. L. Schedule Now Official

Loop moguls today declared that the American league schedule is official.

The season opens on April 14, the New York Yankees billed to oppose the Washington Senators in the capitol city.

The following day all clubs will blast away with the Yanks opening at home against the Athletics, the Senators going against the Red Sox at Boston, Detroit at St. Louis and Chicago at Cleveland.

The schedule calls for the usual 154 games including 35 night games.

K. Pulaskis To Play Sharonites

The K. Pulaski basketball team will play the fast Sharon Sky Club five this evening in the main game at the local K. P. Hall on Atlantic avenue and in the preliminary at 7:30 o'clock the K. P. Reserves will battle a fast local class B team.

The Sharon Sky Club team is leading the City league at Sharon and are rated as one of the fastest clubs in Mercer county. They will come here with an undefeated record in 16 straight games. Coach Flier Jateja and his Oaklanders hope to be able to snap this splendid victory string.

AMBERS-JENKINS BOAT POSTPONED

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—An injury to Lou Ambers' foot may make it necessary to postpone his scheduled 10-round return non-title match with Lightweight Champion Lew Jenkins in Madison Square Garden Feb. 21. It was learned today.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. — Gene Stack, 22-year-old rookie pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, who was drafted, has arrived at Camp Custer.

His comment was brief. "I think I am going to like the army," he said.

To improve the ability of his players to stick-handle better, and swing more sharply from side to side, Coach Dick Irvin of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey league, makes it imperative for the players each day to skate a winding trail in and out among barrels placed on the ice.

Army's football captain, Ray Murphy, has been a student some time. He attended a Butte, Mont., business college, the state university, and Montana State college.

Church League Games Monday

St. George Greeks, Second U. P. And Epworth Win In League Battles

Three church league games were played Monday night at the "Y" to start the second half of the league season. In the first game the St. George Greeks trimmed the Croton Methodist team 48 to 18, with Nick Lucas, Manny Othites and Poleno the scoring stars.

In the second game the Second U. P. team defeated St. Marys 34 to 19, with McGary, Jameson and Morrison the standouts. Best for the Saints was—Gilboy, Guinagh and Maher.

The third and final game found the Epworth team defeating the Central Christians 38 to 30 with Reed, O'Brien and Baldwin doing the bulk of the tallying.

Mysterious Radio Appeal Only "Hoax"

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28.—Fear that a foreign submarine was attacking commercial vessels off the Southern California coast was dispelled Monday when navy and coast guard officials dismissed a mysterious radio appeal as a hoax.

The message, received Saturday night at coast guard headquarters at Point Vicente and by Mackay radio at Manhattan Beach, said: "SSS—KFZL, 3419 north, 133.12 west. Shelled unknown."

The call letters KFZL reportedly were used by the freighter Arcadia until last June 1 when they were cancelled. The position given in the message would have placed the "attack" about 750 miles off the coast near the California-Hawaii ship lanes.

Because of unbroken silence from the area after the one message, coast guard officials said that "no further action" is contemplated. Shortly after the appeal was received the coast guard cutter Hermes was dispatched to the location, but later the vessel was ordered back to port.

REFUGEES FROM SHANGHAI INCLUDE ENGLISH BULLDOG

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO—Tiger Bill, a veteran of seven years with the customs river police at Shanghai, is among the British evacuees who have arrived from the Orient.

Tiger Bill is an English bulldog, owned by William C. Woodfield, chief of the Shanghai River police. Since he was a pup, Bill rode the tugs and sampans of Shanghai's harbor, rarely setting foot on solid ground, but now he is going to remain in America and possibly hold down another post at the British Foreign Service.

Woodfield, who took advantage of a five months' leave of absence to bring Bill to the United States, explained: "Shanghai just isn't a fit place for a dog these days."

Dull And Narrow Performance In New York Market This Morning

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The stock market put in another dull and narrow performance today in a continuation of its recent trend. Most price changes were inconsequential.

General Gas & Electric convertible preferred provided one of the few features, running up over 13 points in the first transaction in some time.

While active rail issues moved irregularly, Pere Marquette prior preferred moved up to a new high.

U. S. Steel was fractionally higher on expectation of a good fourth quarter earnings report. Other steels were up slightly also.

Deere & Co. was active and higher on its earnings gain last year. The opening was on a block of 1,500 shares.

There was some pressure on oil shares. Standard of N. J. and Texas Corp. were down slightly.

Utilities eased. Coppers were irregular from the start. The motor shares were up small fractions. Douglas was strong but other aviation shares were backward.

No Confirmation Of Dismissal Of Marshal Graziani, Commander Of Italian-Libyan Forces

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Although the British forces in Eritrea are still advancing, the Fascist stronghold at Agordat has not yet been captured, authoritative British circles stated today.

It was revealed that British Indian troops are participating in the Eritrean drive.

Military circles in London said they regard the fall of Derna, Italian Libyan base west of captured Tobruk, "as a matter of probability of hours."

They added they had no confirmation of reports that Marshal Graziani has been dismissed as commander of the Italian forces in Libya.

EDITOR'S NOTE: An official Italian spokesman in Rome denied that Graziani has been replaced.

Replacement Sent
By County Board

Lawrence County draft board No. 2 today announced another change in the list of January draftees. Glen Craig Pitzer, R. F. D. No. 3, New Castle, has been selected to replace John Gaydos. Pitzer reports to Pittsburgh on Thursday morning.

William Zilinski, R. F. D. No. 7, New Castle, Box 97, automatically moves up on the alternate list.

DRIVER IS ACCUSED

Gladys McDevitt, East Washington street, was the name and address given by a woman last night, arrested by police, driving an auto in South Croton avenue. A physician who examined her asserted she was intoxicated. Charged by Police Chief W. G. McMullen with the offense today before Alderman Claude Mantz, she pleaded guilty and gave bail for court.

International law is like the other kind. One may observe every detail of it and yet be the worst of scoundrels.

Wants to be in Dog Show

Bozo, mascot of Engine Company No. 214, sits up nicely and begs a favor of A. R. Scott. Bozo was one of the many New York City fire department Dalmatians competing among themselves for right to represent the department in special class at the Westminster Kennel Club show. More than 80 dogs were entered.

But why did it take "the lessons of Europe" to teach anybody that airplanes need "superior armament" to win? It pays to raise kids right. When nations had well-bred rulers, they cared about the good opinion of civilization.

Secure Speaker For Scout Week Banquet In City

William J. Night Of Scranton Will Speak At Cathedral Affair

Scout Executive for Lawrence County, John J. Finnessy, today received a favorable reply from William J. Night, of Scranton, who has been invited to be the speaker for the Boy Scout Week anniversary banquet, here on February 10.

The banquet, which is to be held at the Cathedral, will be part of the local celebration, marking the 31st anniversary of scouting in this country.

Mr. Night is engaged in an interesting work. He devotes his life to the rehabilitation of men, by finding suitable work for physically handicapped men and women about the country. Being a former scout, Mr. Night will be well qualified to deliver an interesting talk to his assemblage on the night of February 10.

Hope To Prevent State Shutdown Of Sewing Project

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 28.—Shutdown of Pennsylvania's W. P. A. sewing projects, threatened by a dispute between State W. P. A. Administrator Philip Mathews and Gov. Arthur H. James, can be averted, Rep. William A. Shaw, (D), Allegheny, announced Monday.

Shaw, chairman of the five-man legislative committee appointed by the house of representatives to investigate the controversy, declared after a meeting with Colonel Mathews:

"I think a good part of this is due to a misunderstanding because one group is using a set of figures for one period while another group is using a set of figures for another period."

"I think everything will be ironed out."

Budget Secretary Edward B. Logan was prevented by illness from attending the meeting between the committee and state and federal officials. He was to have represented Governor James. Another meeting will be held shortly.

INCOME TAX IN A NUTSHELL

HOW TO AVOID COMMON ERRORS

Fifteen million persons, firms, and corporations, it is estimated, will probably file income tax returns this year. These returns began to trickle in around January 1. Every return for the calendar year 1940 must be in by midnight of March 15. In order to handle the enormous volume of work alone entailed of receiving these returns, the Bureau of Internal Revenue has greatly increased its staff in its several district offices. The experience of former years shows that the Bureau is always swamped with late returns. If taxpayers will file their returns early, they will find that this will be mutually beneficial to them and to the Government.

A large number of these returns contain errors which, if not corrected by the audit, would result to the disadvantage of the taxpayer. Many persons pay in more than the amount of the tax due; others fail to take advantage of the personal exemption, the credit allowed for dependents, or deductions from gross income to which they are entitled.

In making out your income tax return, read carefully and study the instructions that accompany the forms on which the tax is computed. If you need more information, it may be obtained at the office of the collector of internal revenue, deputy collector, or an internal revenue agent in charge. When you visit an internal revenue office to get assistance in making out your return, take a copy of your 1939 return with you.

Army Waits As Draftee Sleeps

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—After three months of assiduous effort, 20-year-old Bernard Degman of Philadelphia put on 10 pounds and was accepted by the army. Therefore, his draft board was perplexed Monday when he failed to report for duty as ordered.

Finally at 7:30 a. m. board officials sent a police car to Degman's rooming house. There, the volunteer was fast asleep. He hadn't heard the alarm clock go off.

"It's a safe bet," observed Degman philosophically, "that this won't happen again—for a year, anyway."

FIVE BRITISH SHIPS ANNOUNCED AS SUNK

(International News Service)
LONDON, Jan. 28.—Five British ships totaling 34,772 tons were lost as a result of enemy action during the week ending Jan. 20, the admiralty announced today.

The statement said six Allied vessels aggregating 23,400 tons were lost but that no neutral ships were sunk.

French Rations Getting Slimmer

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Food rations in unoccupied France have been reduced to the point where they are sufficient only to sustain a man lying in bed, French Ambassador Gaston Henri-Haye, declared Monday in a new appeal to the United States government for food for France.

The ambassador made his appeal to Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, emphasizing the urgent need, especially for the women and children of the unoccupied area.

COUNCIL TO MAKE VIEW

Council convened in the city building Monday and decided to view a portion of Glass street which the Shenango Pottery would like to have vacated. There is no outlet to the section referred to and all of the abutting property concerned is owned by the pottery. That portion which the company would like to have vacated is no use or accommodation to the public, the petition asserts.

New Chapter In Odyssey Of 400 Interned Seamen

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—A new chapter in the odyssey of 400 Nazi seamen who scuttled the German liner Columbus to escape British capture begins today.

An advance guard of 35 of the seamen, headed by Capt. William Dahne, master of the sunken Hamburg-American liner, will leave Angel Island, federal immigration detention station, for Fort Stanton, New Mexico. There, in the desert area once roamed by Billy the Kid, the group will recondition an abandoned C.C.C. camp for their comrades.

The crew last year was rescued at sea by an American destroyer after the Columbus was scuttled off the southeastern Atlantic coast to avoid capture by a British man of war. Their removal to New Mexico was ordered by immigration officials in Washington. The action followed the recent "escape" of six Nazi officers aboard a Japanese liner and a stiff protest to Japan from British consular officials.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE
Mrs. John Kelly was pleasantly surprised on Thursday evening when a group of relatives and friends, numbering about thirty, gathered at her home in honor of her birthday. The evening was spent informally with games and music. The honored guest was showered with many lovely and useful gifts. At a late hour a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Ann Stelter, Mrs. Charles Kelly, Mrs. O. V. Douthitt and Misses Agnes Hennon and Mabel Kelly.

ENTERTAINS GROUP OF FRIENDS
Mrs. Roy Douthitt was a charming hostess on Tuesday evening when she entertained a group of friends, numbering eighteen, at her home. The evening was spent informally. At an appropriate time, the honored guests, Mrs. Alice Hennon and Mrs. Pansy Johnson, were each showered with a group of lovely and useful gifts. In bringing the evening to a close the hostess served a delightful lunch aided by a committee.

ATTENDED ANNOUNCEMENT
Those attending the January 41 Commencement Exercises at the Lincoln Auditorium of the Ellwood City High School on Tuesday evening were: Mr. and Mrs. P. Solsberg, Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Gormley, Misses Agnes and Pearl Hennon, and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Flecher and daughter Annella.

CHEWTON NOTES
Walter Landgraf, Jr., of Beaver Falls, visited with friends here on Saturday.

H. G. Allen and E. J. Davis have left by motor for Florida where they will visit with friends for several weeks.

Joseph Douthitt of Alliance, Ohio, spent the week end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Douthitt.

Mrs. Norman Howard and daughter, Dorothy, of Shenango Township were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Guy.

Miss Lillian Durbin, has returned to State Teachers College, Indiana, Pa., after spending several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Durbin.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kurtz and daughters, Jean and Ruth of Brackenridge, Pa., visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Hendershot on Sunday.

INJURED TRUCKER HAS FAIR NIGHT
It was stated today at the Jamestown Memorial hospital that the condition of John Richards, of Center Line, Mich., truck driver who was badly injured when struck by a skidding auto, driven by Gerald M. Cooper, of R. F. D. No. 6 as Richards was attempting to put chains on his truck, was fairly good. Richards had a fair night, it was stated at the hospital. He suffered severe injuries to the back, with a possible fracture of the vertebrae.
